402 Farms of County Built Save the Soil

A summary of the 1950 soil conservation program administered by the County Committee of the P. M. A. reveals a total of 402 farms were assisted by P. M. A. to carry out some practice of soil or water conservation during the year 1950.

The report of the county office shows that 12,018 acres were protected by terraces on thirty-eight farms during the year. A total of two hundred fifty farms carried out some constrvation practice in connection with summer fallow on approximately 60,000 acres. Contour furrowing and chiseling on row crop land was done on one hundred sixty farms for a total of 24,122 acres. Contour seeding was done on one hundred fifty four farms for a total of 42,882 acres. Deep subsoiling in dry soil was done on 9,760 acres on sixty farms.

Permanent pasture was established by returning cropland to pasture on thirteen farms, seeding 7,883 pounds of grass seed recommended by the committee. This practice added about 1,000 acres of pasture on land not generally suited to cultivation. The principal grasses used were crested wheat, grama, buffalo, perennial rye, orchard, western wheat, brome, lovegrass and a few other adapted grasses and legumes.

Additional miscellaneous practices were carried out on forty-five farms. These include stock water dams, irrigation practices, such as, reservoirs, water lines, drop boxes, etc., bindweed control and a few others.

Many good soil and water conservation practices are carried out each year by Randall county farmers which are not included in the P. M. A. list. At present only twelve practices may be selected, by the county committee, on which they may offer assistance.

Indications are that the 1951 soil conservation program will make considerably more progress than was made in 1950. Technical assistance in planning and laying out field practices will be available soon from the Soil Conservation Service. This will be valuable to the county program and to farmers in furnishing lay out and other technical advise on such practices as terracing, contouring, land leveling and other irrigation practices.

Middleton Is Not Taylor-Evans Farm Store Manager

An error was made in last week's issue of The Canyon News.

The error came about in the signature of the Taylor-Evans Farm Store, in which Cal Middleton was listed as manager. The error was made in the following manner:

In the original announcement of the sale of the Farmers Elevator to Taylor - Evans, the name of Middleton was listed as the manager. A few days after the announcement appeared, the elevator burned and no advertising was placed with this firm pending the remodeling of the sales room and securing stock.

Early Wednesday morning the firm phoned The News office asking if it was too late to get in a half page ad. There was not room for such a large ad, but a smaller one was run. Since the signature was not on the copy brought to The News office, it was presumed that the same signature was to be used, and hence this error in including the name of Cal Middleton as manager.

Sorry for this error!

Playground Set Up For Young Children

A temporary playground has been set up at the corner of 18th Street and 7th Avenue by the Canyon Recreation Council. The equipment for the playground — see-saws, jungle gym bars, high goals, and other pieces — was made by the vocational shops at West Texas State College. The material for the equipment was furnished by Burrow and Sternenberg Lumber Companies, and Miss Elizabeth Cox is permitting the use of the lot.

The playground was set up primarily for younger children and plans are being made to have a supervisor at the area throughout the summer to organize a program for pre-school children. The program will be operated in the afternoons five days each week.

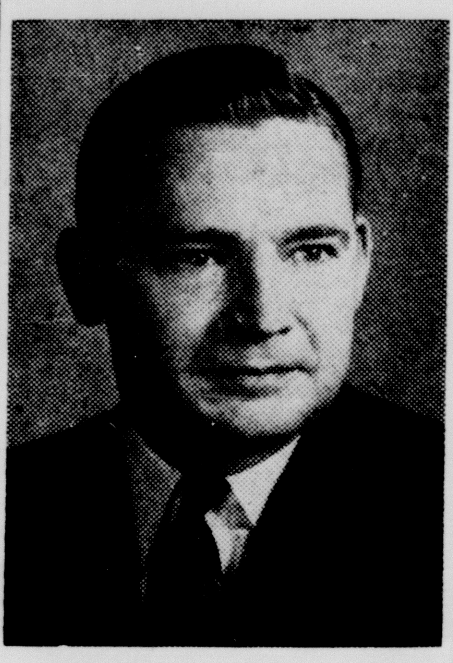
Dr. Prichard To Address Grads at College Thursday



DR. FRANCIS PRICHARD

Dr. Francis Prichard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Amarillo, will address the graduating class of Canyon high Thursday night at the college auditorium. This will be the final program of the graduating exercises.

West Texas State graduating program ended Tuesday night with a band concert, and students will leave for their homes today following final examinations.

'The Great Caruso' To Be Shown This Weekend at Varsity

It is with great pleasure that the management of the Olympic-Varsity Theatres presents the technicolor film, "The Great Caruso," in one of the first showings in Texas. Starring Mario Lanza, Ann Blyth, and Dorothy Kirsten, the film tells the life story of the world-famed Italian tenor Enrico Caruso, who began singing in the streets of Naples for pennies.

A private screening of the film was held Monday afternoon in the Varsity Theatre for the music department of West Texas State and the Music-Arts Club. The film will be shown at the Varsity this weekend, May 25, 26, and 27.

For those who especially enjoy opera the scene from various operas — "Rigoletto," "Aida," "I Pagliacci," and "La Boehme" — will be highlights of the movie. The splendor and wealth of the period are beautifully filmed.

Methodist Close Conference Year With Good Report

Local Methodist preachers and delegates from the local Methodist church are in Abilene this week attending the annual Methodist Conference of Northwest Texas Conference. The conference opens Wednesday and closes when the appointments are read Sunday.

Rev. Herschel Thurston is pastor of the Methodist Church in Canyon while Rev. Edgar Irvine is manager of the Methodist Camp Ground on Ceta Canyon, southeast of Canyon.

The local church will report all financial obligations met and will present a good report of the year's work.

Mr. Irvine states that this is the best year that the Methodist Camp Ground has ever had.

Rev. John R. Sharp will preach at the Methodist Church Sunday morning in the absence of Rev. Thurston.

Opening of Park Road Postponed By Added Rains

It will be impossible to hold the official opening of the road in the Palo Duro State Park on June 22 as originally planned.

The State Highway Department has notified John McCarty that additional money must be secured for the crossings in the Park before the work can be completed.

So much damage was done at crossing No. 7 that it will probably be necessary to rebuild and change the road. A state inspector will be here next week to ascertain just what damage has been wrought by the flood to this part of the road.

Umbarger Firm Has Been Incorporated

Incorporators of Lakeside Service & Supply, a new pipe line business in Umbarger are Ernest Hollenstein, Roscoe Richardson and Marion Majors, according to a news release from Secretary of State John Ben Sheppard.

The charter is for a capital of $35,000.

Citizens File Protest Dairy Herds in City

Four petitions filed by more than 400 citizens of Canyon have been filed with the City Commission asking that dairies and stock pens at the edge of Canyon be closed up or cleaned up.

"In spite of recent sprayings in Canyon, the screen door of my home is covered with flies, brought here by the presence of a nearby herd of dairy cows," stated a citizen of Canyon.

The petitioners state that no harm is meant for the dairy owners, but law and justice must prevail for citizens who are suffering from the situation over which they have no control, but which is in the hands of the dairy herd owners.

Dean of Women Gave Insight of Office in College

Miss Ruth Cross, Dean of Women of West Texas State, talked at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday, giving a look at some of the problems which confront her office. She was introduced by Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus of the college, who praised her for the fine work she had performed since joining the faculty in 1927. Miss Cross was selected by the Chamber of Commerce as the outstanding citizen of the community during the past year.

The duties of the Dean of Women are three fold, stated Miss Cross: To help the girls in their living quarters; among their college associates; and among the citizens of the community.

Young people do not follow the pattern as set by adults. They are likely to do the same thing tomorrow that they have been told not to do today.

To discriminate between "growing pains" and real problems is the question youth must solve.

"Goodnights" are a problem with the student body.

As a rule youth is ready to take the responsibility for its own actions, stated Miss Cross. As a whole, there are no major college problems, but the same problems exist among the girls of the college that any family would fine if they suddenly expanded their family by taking into their home fifty or a hundred additional girls the same age of their own.

Visitors were H. L. Cleavinger, Fred P. Brien, J. H. Yeary, Irving Tolzien, Joe C. Rogers, all of Amarillo.

Methodist Vacation Church School Will Open Mon., May 28

The dates for the vacation church school of the First Methodist Church are May 28 through June 8. Kindergarten age children through the junior age will meet from 9 to 11 o'clock each morning. The intermediate group will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 each evening.

Registration will begin at 9 o'clock Monday morning, May 28.

Kindergarten children will study "Happy Times in Our Church," while the primary group will use "We Go to Church" as their unit. "The Story and Work of the Methodist Church" will be the theme of the junior study, and the intermediates will use "Oh Come Let Us Worship."

Mrs. A. C. "Jack" Haley Jr. is the director of the vacation church school.

Treasure Hunt To Start Soon Palo Duro Park

In view of the fact that it has been necessary to postpone the official opening of the road in the Palo Duro State Park because of flood damages, the Treasure Hunt will be opened the first week in June.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with the Chambers of Amarillo and Hereford in staging this event which has drawn so many thousands of visitors to Canyon during the past two years.

Practically all business firms in Canyon have given prizes to the Treasure Hunt in the past and it is hoped that they will continue this practice for 1951. Solicitation for prizes will be made during the coming week.

Help Keep Canyon Clean!

Memorial Day To Be Observed as Holiday May 30

Next Wednesday, May 30, is Memorial Day.

According to the survey made in December by the Chamber of Commerce most of the business houses of Canyon will observe the day in lieu of Armistice Day which has been observed in the past.

In years past the graves of war veterans have been decorated in Dreamland Cemetery and it is planned to carry out this tradition on next Wednesday.

Shahans Leave For New Work Wichita Falls

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shahan and children will leave today on a week's vacation trip before going to Wichita County.

John Brazzil will arrive May 29th to assume the duties of County Agent of Randall county. He is now assistant to the county agent at Gilmer.

Mr. Shahan has made a fine record while serving in Randall county and it was genuine disappointment that he resigned although he was offered a much more attractive situation at Wichita Falls.

Roy Reynolds Wins First Place in Nat'l College Rodeo

Although Sul Ross College won the national intercollegiate rodeo held in Fort Worth May 9-13, contestants from West Texas State College, coached by Mr. Ted Reid, walked off with a national championship title. Roy Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Reynolds of Canyon, was awarded a $300.00 saddle for being first place winner in the wild cow milking contest.

In 1950 Earl Reynolds, brother of Roy, received the same award when he was named national champion in the wild cow milking contest at the national intercollegiate rodeo held in the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

Thirty-nine colleges of the nation are members of the intercollegiate association. During the school year rodeos are held on various college campuses to determine, by a point system, the 10 top teams that compete in the national rodeo.

Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Reid flew down for the rodeo, and Mr. and Mrs. Reid went on to Galveston to attend a regional housing conference. They returned to Canyon last Wednesday.

Council of Church Women To Meet

The Council of Church Women is to hold its May meeting, combined with May Fellowship Day, at the Christian Church on Tuesday, May 29. The meeting begins at 11:30, with Mrs. Bryan McDonald in charge of special music and leading group singing. Mrs. Roy Johnson will give a devotional talk, based on the book "Women at Work" and women in the Bible.

At noon there will be a covered dish luncheon. During the afternoon, following the business meeting, Mrs. Dan Sanders will review a book.

Women of all churches are cordially invited to the meeting.

Too Many Opinions on MacArthur Deal

The News has received six letters this week on the MacArthur case. These are highly critical of the letter published last week.

There is only one letter of criticism of MacArthur and what he has done in the past.

In order to put a stop to letter writing on this unfortunate episode, no more letters will be published. No two writers have the same idea about the situation.

Mabel Graham arrived home Wednesday from Waco where she has been attending Baylor University.

Tierra Blanca South of Canyon Overflows Highway

Flood waters over Highway 87 South of Canyon show the extent of water which went down this stream during the heavy rains last week. Only big trucks were allowed to pass over the pavement. In the distance two big trucks are shown as they went off the pavement and were stalled in the deep water.

The heavy rains of last week came to an end Friday morning after 8.88 inches had fallen during the week.

The rain up to Wednesday morning amounted to 6.21 inches. By noon Wednesday constant rains added 1.15 inches. Wednesday afternoon the downpour totaled .57 of an inch, with .35 of an inch falling Thursday night to end up the rain.

Showers have fallen over the Panhandle in varying degrees since the general rain ceased.

This brought the total rainfall up to 8.88 inches during the week's period of time, most of the rain falling on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Various reports of destruction have come in from over the country due to high water. Both the north and south creeks were higher than any one has ever seen them. Traffic was hauled across the Tierra Blanca. Water poured over the highway north of Canyon for the first time since this road was constructed.

Another .07 of an inch of water was added this week with a light shower Sunday night, followed by another light shower Monday night. These showers bring the total to 8.95 inches of water.

A bird's eye view of the damage will probably bring to attention many other destructions brought about by the high water.

The south approach to the Six Mile Crossing bridge was practically taken away, and the road was closed Wednesday. P. H. Baber, county commissioner, states that it will cost at least a $100,000 to replace the bridge and to build approaches which will stand flood water. The county does not have the money to build such a bridge.

Cabins at the Country Club just above the Six Mile Crossing were underwater and great damage was done to the furniture and fixtures in these cabins.

Clarence Beckman states that the approach to one of the new bridges north of Umbarger was washed out by the high water, but the bridge was not damaged.

Water went over the Buffalo Lake spillway Thursday morning at 6 o'clock for the first time in several years. It takes a huge amount of water to fill the lake and soak up the dry ground surrounding the lake after such a prolonged dry spell. Hundreds of fishermen line the banks of the lake and the spillway, hauling in large fish.

A practically new car was badly damaged in the roadside park south of Canyon, when it was caught in the sudden rush of waters down Tierra Blanca creek.

Glenn Dowlen states that there are so many lakes in precinct 3 that he put up 20 "road closed" signs.

The underpass just east of the depot was closed for several hours when the drain pipe could not handle the water which rushed in from the north and south.

The road north from Canyon, the old road to Amarillo, was closed when the water was over the bridge and approaches. This is one of the oldest bridges in the county.

Cellars were filled with water around town, and the streets ran full of water curb full.

Water at the Palo Duro State Park flooded the low areas, and did much damage to trees and shrubs. The picnic unit at Crossing No. 1 was covered with water. Work had just started in rebuilding the crossings under the road contract, and none of this work was lost by the flood.

Stockmen are elated with the fine moisture which will bring an abundance of grass. Some wheat fields which looked dead before the rains are now taking on new life. There will be more wheat than was contemplated a few weeks ago.

Since the water has subsided back to normal, Panhandle farmers are scratching their heads and wondering what the conditions might be today had all of this water fallen at monthly periods since last fall when the drouth hit.

100 Calves of 4-H, FFA Boys Sale on Monday

Stocker calves which were fed by 4-H and F. F. A. boys in Randall county will be offered for sale next Monday afternoon at the Amarillo livestock ring.

These calves are not the fat variety which have been finished for show purposes, but were carefully selected as stockers from the herds of the leading breeders of the Panhandle to be fitted for the commercial sale. No premiums are offered in this sale, but the boys will realize a good profit as the result of their work.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Sykes on May 18.

New Group of Air Force Men Arrive Wednesday Night

The number of students from the Army Air Force was increased to 125 men when the fifth group arrived last Wednesday night for commercial training in West Texas State College.

Another group of 25 men is expected to arrive on the campus Wednesday or Thursday.

A. M. Cunningham spent last week in Fulton, Arkansas, where he visited his father, J. S. Cunningham, and fished. On a trout line they caught a 75 lb. alligator garr. G. B. Combs accompanied Mr. Cunningham to Texarkana where he spent the week visiting his daughter.

$60,000 Bond Money Received by City of Canyon

The city of Canyon has received $60,000 of bond money which was authorized by the voters of Canyon in the recent bond election. The remittance came Saturday, and work is now ready to start on the improvement program which was outlined by the commission before the election.

A number of paving projects have been submitted to the city commission. Other citizens who are interested in paving are urged to make their wishes known at once in order that their projects may be considered when the city starts work.

It is planned to let a contract for all of the paving jobs which will be finished this summer.

It is stated by the State Highway Commission that the contract for paving the highway through Canyon on No. 87 will be let in June. It was hoped that this would be let in May, but the plans were not ready for this project in time for the May lettings.

Mrs. Lee Foster Has Returned From State Meeting

Mrs. Lee Foster returned Sunday from the meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs which was held at Houston last week with more than 2,000 women attending. Mrs. Foster was organist and pianist for the meeting.

Some of the most distinguished speakers of the nation were heard with interest at the convention, states Mrs. Foster.

Mrs. J. A. Brewer of Childress, mother of Mrs. Foster, was here to stay with Mr. Foster and daughter, Sally, during the absence of Mrs. Foster.

Miss Vergie Haines Resigns From News

Miss Vergie Haines has resigned her position at The Canyon News office, effective July 1st. She has accepted a position of Camp Counselor in a girls camp in New Mexico for the summer and will return to the Texas Women's College at Denton this fall to continue study in this line of work.

Miss Haines has been with The News the past year and will be greatly missed as society editor and bookkeeper.

Thomas Thompson Will Take Degree

Among the candidates for degrees from the University of Texas is Thomas Harold Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Thompson of Canyon.

He is taking the degree of Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering.

Dr. Barrett Is Leaving College Middle of June

Dr. Margaret Barrett has resigned her position as head of the Department of Home Economics, effective June 1, and will be married to Dr. Barton Morgan, professor in Iowa State College, in August at Pratt, Kansas.

Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State, stated Tuesday that no arrangements had been made for the selection of a head of the department.

Dr. Barrett has been a member of the faculty since 1937, and was made head of the department of Home Economics in 1938. She returned last year from a leave of absence during which time she earned her Ph. D. from Iowa State College at Ames. She will leave Canyon the middle of June to visit in the home of her sister in Pratt, Kansas.

Dr. Morgan has been selected by the Department of Agriculture of the United States government to make a tour of foreign capitols to advise on educational matters, and his bride will accompany him on the trip.

Swimming Lessons To Be Offered Young and Old

During the summer months the recreation council will sponsor swimming lessons for people of Canyon and this area. Carrol Vaughan, new manager of the pool, will be the teacher for all classes.

Plans are set up to offer lessons for the young people three days a week, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings. An adult class will be taught at nights. The exact time will be announced at a later date.

This activity will be part of the summer program being planned by the recreation council for the months of June, July, and August.

Singing Convention To Convene Here

The Plateau Singing Convention will hold its 30th annual meeting at the West Texas State College auditorium on the 16th and 17th of June. Mr. John F. Taylor of Canyon, president of the group since it was organized thirty years ago, will preside at the meeting.

Invitations have been mailed to a number of the more famous quartets throughout Texas, and the planned program will include many of these groups. Plans are being made to receive 2000 people for the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hemmington spent last week-end in Muleshoe visiting relatives.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

The Big Debate Gets More and More Political Day by Day

The so-called big debate in Washington has slowed down to a snail's pace and developed into a political brawl between the opposing Democratic and Republican Senators who have their eyes glued on the 1952 election rather than upon the safety and future of America.

While no civilian has a right to speak for either party, as the chiefs yet do not know the score, the situation is disgusting.

Here we have a WAR on our hands. If you do not call the Korea fight a war, just look at the list of dead, wounded and missing, most of them American boys. So far Randall county has escaped the sting of death in this ever growing casualty list. One of these days we shall suffer such a loss and then it will be more firmly brought home to us that a war is on.

Back to Washington: General MacArthur brought to Congress a dignified, scholarly and forceful message upon his return home. He appeared, upon invitation, before joint meetings of Senatorial committees, who respectfully heard him give his ideas on the Korean and Eastern situation. Maybe he is wrong: We have no way of knowing, yet he has been facing the Communist situation for 14 years and should know more about it than the rank and file American, even members of Congress.

It is rather hard to read and digest the subsequent testimony of Staff members who have followed. Their testimony has been for the purpose of reputing the words of MacArthur. There is so much politics mixed up in their testimony that the average reader throws up his hands in disgust.

For example, we noted on the editorial page of a leading Texas newspaper the other day, long articles by three well known writers, all of whom disagreed as to the meaning of the testimony which had so far been presented. If these trained newspaper men in Washington cannot agree, who is the average layman to believe?

The whole situation centers around one question, "What will Russia do, if we do so and so?" As a matter of fact, no one knows what Russia will do, but certainly military men should be in position to have a better insight than the average layman. We are convinced that all of our leaders in Washington, both Democratic and Republican are honestly trying to keep us out of war. They differ as to the matter of procedure. We are telling the world just how weak and how strong we are; how long it will be before we shall be ready to fight; and what plans we have for preparation to fight in future years.

While we are doing all of this talking, Russia is listening, comparing notes, and continuing to keep her secrets up her sleeve.

The debate which started out with such dignity has now developed into another political brawl, much to our discredit.

It Sure Rained! And a Lot of Needed Water Flows Away

It rained!

Every weather prophet has been predicting that rain would fall, but few suggested that it would be such a downpour.

While all of us like to see rain, none of us want to see the clouds turn themselves inside out in the period of a few hours and spill such a huge amount of water that will cause a great run-off of this precious fluid.

Water which is dumped so rapidly on the dry land and has to run off, back to the large lakes, rivers and ocean, will do no permanent good.

That is the reason that conservation is playing such a large part in this country. Contour lines will hold a lot of this water, and small dams and lakes will stop more of it. Holding the water as it falls and where it falls is the objective of soil conservation. Soil which is washed away will never return; and water which escapes down the rivers and creeks is not performing the duty for which it was intended.

Paul Allingham Will Return to His Old Kansas Newspaper

The Panhandle is about to lose one of its outstanding young newspaper men, Paul Allingham. Paul has bought the controlling interest of the Atchison Globe from Gene Howe of the Amarillo Globe-News, and will return to the paper where he got his start. The Atchison Globe was established 74 years ago by the late Ed Howe, and was given to Gene Howe by his father many years ago.

Paul Allingham is past president of the Panhandle Press Association and one of the swellest fellows we have ever known. He is always most agreeable and helpful to the country boys of the press, and will be greatly missed by them when they visit the big plant in Amarillo.

Luck to Mr. and Mrs. Allingham in their new home!

Times Have Changed When the Gals Go After Millionaires

Times have changed. A few years ago we used to read about the duke, .or count or prince, all broke, who came over to America to marry the millionaire's daughter daughter, with the blessing of the old boy and his equally ambitious wife. It was the habit of the American gals to relish a taste of so-called royalty.

Now days, it is the American actresses who go over to Europe and pick off the few remaining wealthy of the ruling class, stay with them a few months or years, and come home with a big bank account.

Millionaires have passed out of favor in this country. When one of them pop up, Uncle Sam sends his investigators around to see where the money came from.

If one believes the advertisements of various cosmetics beauty of face and figure is only a matter of a few dollars.

When we run across a brother who disagrees with us, we pass on; life is too short to waste energy in a verbal tug of war.

When a man begins to tell you nice things about you, if you are likewise a man, be sure the worse is yet to come.

"We Object" Is American Way of Exposing Our Views

We have been amazed at the response which is given when the national administration is attacked these days upon any occasion, and upon any subject. Folks sure like to cuss Washington and the Truman administration.

After all the big cussing has subsided, just go back to the loudest protesting group, after the heat has declined and ask for a confidential report on what these protesters honestly think about the national situation.

We believe that invariably you will find that the loud protesters admit that they have never enjoyed such prosperity; that they believe this prosperity would continue so long as the Democrats are in power; that they even voted the Democratic ticket in 1948, and might do the same thing in 1952.

Yet, we object. We like to object; and no one is going to shoot you or even send you to jail for objecting. It is the American privilege in which we enjoy indulging.

Dean Acheson Will Sit in Cabinet So Long as Needed?

Regardless of all the rumors coming out of Washington, Dean Acheson will remain as Secretary of State, according to the announcement he made Wednesday. He says that he will remain just as long as the President needs him.

His declaration will not solve the prevailing displeasure in Washington of those who have followed his checkered career. He has been on all sides of the political fence; first upholding the convicted commie Hess; approving Red China and the sale by England of needed war materials to the Reds; opposing General MacArthur; and now professes to be on the other side of the fence. It is difficult to understand just how he can be on so many sides of public questions in so short a time and be of any material benefit to the President.

There is talk in Washington that his salary will be omitted from the appropriations bill in order to get rid of him. Unless we are badly informed, the salary is a minor consideration to Acheson, although the direct slap would probably hurt his pride.

Growing Museum Needs More Room to Display Its Exhibits

Those who visit the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum regularly have been struck with the need of more room. This is a growing institution.

Here we have thousands of articles of great interest to the public which are still behind locked doors because of the lack of space.

There is only one floor left unfinished of the present building. The original building consisted of two floors; the second unit has three floors.

If and when a third unit is started, plans should be made for four floors. There is enough valuable materials now on hand to occupy much of the space in this newly proposed unit.

When you have some surplus cash, remember the museum building fund, and the great educational work which is being accomplished in this Society of pioneer settlers of the Panhandle.

Lyndon Johnson Promoted as Democratic Nominee President

A magazine comes out with an article based upon the qualifications of Senator Lyndon Johnson as a candidate for President in 1952.

All Texans will agree that Senator Johnson merits serious consideration as a nominee of the Democratic party. He is making a wonderful record of achievement.

However, few are fooled by this most complimentary article of achievement. The magazine happens to be Republican in politics. While Johnson is deserving of all of the praise given him by the writer, let it be remembered that this magazine will follow with other articles on other men who are available as candidates for political preference in 1952.

Our Own Theory: The manager of a small business enterprise, in a small community, uses about as much brains as the head of some of our largest corporations.

The policies of nations rarely change: In 1941 we wrote that the foreign policy of the Soviet could be explained by the query, "Where is the loot?"

You can understand what goes on in Congress when you realize that every member represents a district and nobody represents the nation.

The cosmopolitan person is the resident of a big city, thoroughly convinced that what is done by the multitude around him is correct.

National defense may be a passing fancy in the minds of some Americans but the day may come when it will mean life or death.

Not satisfied with the perplexities of life on the globe some people are trying to solve the problem of the planets.

Hardly any church needs any particular individual but there are few individuals who do not need a church.

When a man is satisfied that he is qualified for a position the law of gravity cannot measure the attraction.

We still think that a union of the democratic peoples is the best way to insure the peace of the world.

The time to start saving for your old age is today; you will never begin at some time in the future.

Almost any excuse is good enough for the tightwad who does not want to make a contribution.

A popular summer visitor is one supposed to be in line to inherit considerable wealth.

Businesses, unlike weeds, do not just grow; behind every success is energy and brains.

Somebody ought to compel every public speaker to listen to his own remarks.

OUR DEMOCRACY —— by Mat

THE EYES HAVE IT

FROM 1861 TO 1865, MATTHEW BRADY FOLLOWED THE ARMIES FROM BATTLEFIELD TO BATTLEFIELD, WITH HIS CUMBROUS CAMERA – AND GAVE US A GREAT PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THAT WAR. HE WAS THE FORERUNNER OF NEWS PHOTOGRAPHERS, BUT HIS OWN PICTURES WERE HISTORY, NOT NEWS, BY THE TIME THEY WERE PUBLISHED.

TODAY'S NEWS PHOTOGRAPHERS, AIDED BY THE TREMENDOUS ADVANCES IN PHOTOGRAPHY AND THE TRANSMISSION OF PICTURES BY WIRE AND WIRELESS, GIVE US THE NEWS PICTORIALLY WHEREVER AND WHENEVER IT HAPPENS, IN PEACE OR WAR. THROUGH THEIR EFFORTS WE GAIN A SENSE OF HISTORY IN THE MAKING, AND OF PARTICIPATION IN THE EVENTS OF OUR TIMES. THESE MODERN "BRADYS" THEREBY HELP ALERT AND INFORM THE PEOPLE, TO THE ADVANTAGE OF OUR DEMOCRACY.

Werner and Beck Named 1952 Eds

All appointive positions for next fall on The Prairie and Le Mirage have been filled. Announcement came this week from Vaughn Vandergriff, publicity director.

Chosen to edit The Prairie for the fall semester is Patti Werner, Amarillo sophomore. Miss Werner has been with the publication staff of the paper one year and has had prior professional work on the Clarkston, Washington newspaper. James Gamblin, Rankin junior, will serve as business manager. Gamblin has been associated with The Prairie two years as photographer and reporter.

Beverly Beck, Canyon junior, was chosen to edit Le Mirage for 1952. Miss Beck served as editor during the past year. As her business manager she will have Donna Erwin, Canyon sophomore.

"Really?" she asked, putting down her dog. "I'm so sorry." And she sounded sincerely contrite as she explained: "I thought they were for the employes!"

Hardy-Tucker Vows Read in Memorial Chapel

Miss Mavis Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hardy of Perryton, became the bride of Don Tucker at 3 p. m. Monday, May 21, in Memorial Chapel of West Texas State College. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tucker of Throckmorton. Both the young people received their degrees Monday morning.

Miss Ruth Ann Soll, at the console organ, furnished the music, preceding and during the ceremony.

Miss Nettie Lou Lindsey of Borger was maid of honor and wore an aqua dress of sheer material, fashioned similar to the bridal gown. Frank Wise of Coleman was best man; Jack Tucker of Canyon and Deane Wright of Spur were ushers.

Mr. Hardy gave his daughter in marriage, and her grandfather, Elder J. B. Hardy, performed the ceremony. Her gown was of white brocaded satin, with fitted bodice and full skirt of demitasse length. Her short veil was attached to a juliet cap with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white camelias and gladiolias.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Pies Harper.

The tea table was spread with an embroidered linen cloth and the center piece was of peach and blue iris. The three-tiered wedding cake and the fruit punch carried out the bride's chosen colors of aqua and peach.

Miss Edna Graham presided at the guest book and recorded the names of seventy-five guests. Among the out-of-town visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hardy, Elder J. B. Hardy, mother, father and grandfather of the bride, together with her three brothers and four sisters and families, all from the north Panhandle towns; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tucker and Mrs. J. L. Tucker, mother, father and grandmother of the bridegroom, together with his three brothers and their families from Throckmorton; Mrs. W. W. Brooks and Mrs. R. R. Lindsey of Borger.

The couple will honeymoon in Austin, Texas, and will return to Canyon for the summer.

Defense program is reported ahead of World War II pace.

BOWLING ALLEY

DINNER COMPLIMENTS MISS HARDY, MR. TUCKER

On Sunday, May 20, Miss Edna Graham entertained with a fried chicken dinner honoring Miss Mavis Hardy of Perryton and Mr. Don Tucker of Throckmorton.

The table, laid with a Venetian linen cloth, bordered with Barono lace and cut work, was centered with a pyramid of flowers, built with peach snapdragons and primroses with blue cornflowers for the base. Place cards were replicas of steamships, marked "U. S. S. DON-MAVIS, Bon Voyage, May 20, 1951." Each ship bore one of the following names: Don Tucker, Mavis Hardy, Frank Wise, Frankie Williams, Jack Tucker, Mrs. Jack Tucker, Jack Cooper, Ruth Ann Soll, J. D. Covington, and Mrs. J. D. Covington.

Between the main courses and dessert the group composed a list of "DO's" and "DONT's" for the bride and bridegroom.

The dinner was terminated by the hostess presenting to the bride-elect a tea pot in her chosen pottery pattern.

MRS. MILTON MORRIS ENTERTAINS 1925 BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Milton Morris entertained the 1925 Bridge Club in the Frank R. Phillips home on Wednesday afternoon, May 16. Arrangements of iris and other spring flowers decorated the entertaining rooms. A dessert course with coffee was served.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. P. E. Savage and Mrs. J. O. Parker. Members present were Mesdames Aubrey Crossland, W. A. Warren, J. J. Walker, A. K. Knott, Leonard Britt, Boone McClure, Hud Prichard, Iverson Leake, Glen Dowlen, and Frank R. Phillips.

Mrs. J. Madison Daugherty, reporter, missed this meeting because of the high water north of town. This was the first meeting she had missed since the club was organized 26 years ago.

REX REEVES EXPLAINS SUMMER SCHOOL SET-UP TO LIONS

Lion Emmitt Smith had charge of the program at the regular Lions Club luncheon last Wednesday and introduced Lion Rex Reeves who explained the Summer School program at the college this summer.

"Emphasis will be placed on various courses which the student is not able to get in his local school," stated Mr. Reeves, who will be the principal of the school.

A detailed description of the subjects and program is explained elsewhere in this issue.

After Mr. Reeves' talk the Lions discussed the program and asked the speaker questions concerning it.

The only business discussed was the International Convention, and the selection of delegates to the convention.

Mrs. J. W. Horn had as her guests Sunday her grandson and wife Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Durham of Denver, Colo., who were celebrating their 15th wedding anniversary, her daughter and Mr. Durham's mother Mrs. Sue Durham of San Angelo, Texas. Other visitors were Mrs. Horn's sister Mrs. Pauline Boyd of Greenwood, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ethridge of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. David Horn and Lanna Kay of Canyon.

Miss Irene Angel, Miss Helen Taylor, Mrs. Mary Newberry and Mrs. Marie Cooper attended the Beauty Convention held in Plainview Sunday, May 20. Mrs. Newberry and Miss Taylor received certificates for attendance at the private lesson in hair styling and shaping.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Moreland and Andy spent Sunday evening in the Stuart Condron Jr. home near Dawn.

There are new graves to be remembered Memorial Day, 1951—graves like the ones in this U. S. cemetery near Inchon, Korea—graves of men who died so freedom might live.

SHORT SHORT STORY

Rooms For Rent

By Dorothy Boys Kilian

3-Minute Fiction

"HONEY, YOU DON'T really think you can rent these rooms for the summer, do you?" Dick Shipley, still in his greasy cover-alls, frowned as he found his pretty young wife sitting on the wide-board floor in an upstairs bedroom, mending a faded blue rag rug.

Margaret stood up slowly and planted a kiss on his smudgy cheek. "We want to have a nice crib and other things for our first baby, don't we, darling? And that takes money—more than we've got to spend."

"Maybe I could take another job in the evenings, or something."

"Why, Dick, you're exhausted when you come home from the garage; and lots of times you don't even get here until eight or nine."

"Yeh, I know. Starting a new business means no money and no free time for a while."

"Well, this house your mother left us has more rooms than we need for ourselves."

"But just look at the furniture!" Dick waved an arm at the room in general. "You sit in that wooden rocker for ten minutes and those slats make a prison bar pattern on your back. The bed's so high you need a Pullman ladder to Climb into it, and that wash stand—"

"I think it's all kind of quaint," Margaret said placidly. Dick snorted. "People on vacation want to be comfortable, not quaint. And besides, think where we're located; practically out in the country, the opposite end of town from the lake and all the amusements."

"It's nice and quiet, though," Margaret insisted.

Dick shrugged. "I give up. But I hate to see you slaving away up here."

"Oh, well, the doctor says I need plenty of exercise," Margaret said soothingly.

"There's the doorbell, I'll get it." Dick, still looking troubled, started downstairs.

A portly, pink-cheeked old gentleman stood on the porch. "This is the Shipley residence?"

"Why, yes," Dick looked goggle-eyed past him to the long shiny black car parked in front of the house.

"May I speak to Mrs. Shipley?"

"I'm Mrs. Shipley," Margaret called from the top of the stairs."

"I am Mr. Frost of Big Rapids. You have some rooms for rent?"

"Yes. Please come up and I'll show them to you," Margaret answered.

DICK stayed downstairs and listened glumly to the footsteps overhead. He winced as he heard the bathroom door squeak and imagined Mr. Frost's first view of the old tub standing high on its claw feet.

There was a lengthly murmer of voices in the upstairs hall. Then down came Mr. Frost, a hand on Margaret's elbow, and she accepting the little attention as the most natural thing in the world.

"Well, it's all settled then," Mr. Frost was saying. "We'll take the two rooms for the summer. "Yes sir, this advertisement hit us in the right spot." He fingered a little piece of newspaper.

"Advertisement?" Dick stared at the paper.

"Your wife used a good psychological trick, didn't she?" Mr. Frost chuckled. "Playing down a thing so much that it excited your curiosity."

"Uh, yes," Dick laughed weakly. "Let's see that again," he said, trying not to look too astonished.

"For rent," he read, "for the summer season, two rooms in ancient frame house, unfashionable part of resort village, very few modern conveniences, no recreational facilities nearby. Mrs. Richard Shipley, 1203 Stanley Road, Weehagen, Michigan."

"Yes," Mr. Frost said. "My wif saw that and said it made he thing of a Currier and Ives print—' He handed Margaret some bills put on his grey homburg, and stepped briskly out the door.· garet. "Your greatest triumph, honey, is that you've managed not to look triumphant."

Railroads to file plea for 15 per cent freight rate rise.

Divided Duty

The station inspector, new on the job and unknown along the line, was making his first tour of the road. One morning, he stepped into the waiting room of a country station and found it as cold as ice. Half a dozen patrons were huddled around a fireless stove.

"Why hasn't a fire been started?" the inspector demanded.

One of the customers jerked his thumb in the direction of the agent's office. "No use asking him. Says he's too busy to build a fire." The inspector stepped over to the agent's window and asked him the reason for the cold stove.

"Got no time fer that," snapped the agent. "This here freight's gotta be billed and after that, there's a pile of telegrams to send."

The inspector took a blank from his pocket and scribbled a message to headquarters concerning the agent's neglect, asking for authority to discharge him. "Here," he said, "put this with the other wires you have to send."

The agent snatched the blank, hastily scanned it, then slammed it down on the desk and headed for the kindling box.

"Got no time to send any telegrams," he snapped. "I gotta make a fire in that stove yonder!"

THREE CASES

A man wants an analyst to help him get rid of his split personality.

"Why do you want to do that?" asks the psychiatrist.

"Because we just can't stand each other," replies the patient.

A psychiatrist lists a $1,000 deduction on his income tax return. His explanation: "This represents a loss due to a patient. He's a kleptomaniac, and I haven't cured him yet."

Then there is the man who visits a medical friend whom he finds in wild excitement, crying, "I've got to see a psychiatrist!"

"But you are a psychiatrist," says the visitor.

"Yes," says the doctor, "but I charge too much."

Some Puns

A young bride noted her husband's irritation and said, "I hope you're not upset because the laundry didn't come." "But I am," he assured her. "I'm all out of shorts." A chorus girl married a plutocrat and returned triumphantly from her honeymoon literally covered with diamonds. Her old roommate, whose nose was a trifle out of joint, sniffed, "That girl has gotten too big for her brooches."

TRANSPORTATION LIMITED

"I'll bet you 10 dollars," a man said to a boastful athlete, "that I can wheel something in a wheelbarrow from one street lamp to the next and you aren't able to wheel it back."

The local champ looked him over. He thought of bags of cement, bricks and old iron, and concluded that whatever the stranger could wheel, he could do better.

"Bet taken," he said.

The other man smiled, walked over to a wheelbarrow and said to the boastful athlete, "Get in."

TWO REASONS

"I'll bet you think twice before leaving that wife of yours alone for an evening. Am I right?"

"I'll say. First I have to think up an excuse for getting out, and then a reason why she can't come."

The Bum!

This wouldn't have happened to me if my late husband Clancey were here. But he's gone to the happy hunting grounds.

How do you like that? You're in trouble and he's out having a good time.

Don Turner Wins Journalism Prize

Don Turner, Canyon senior at West Texas State, captured the $150 award given annually by Cabot Carbon Company of Pampa with his article on the Panhandle-Plains Museum. Turner is a feature writer for The Prairie.

The Cabot Company set up a $5,000 fund in securities last fall and the interest from this fund is given each year to a member of the journalism department at West Texas State College. This is the first year that the award has been given and Turner is the initial winner. The best publishable article written on a given subject will be given the prize each year. A board set up by Cabot chooses the subject.

This year's topic was any phase of the Panhandle-Plains Museum and Turner took top honors with his article "History Flavored with Gunsmoke." It was a descriptive story of the Nicholson gun collection now on exhibit in the museum.

Turner has been on The Prairie staff for three years, first as a reporter and then as a feature writer. He will receive his BA degree in August.

Judges for the original contest were: Wes Izzard, editor and publisher of the Amarillo Globe-News; T. E. Johnson, editor of the Amarillo Times; and Dave Warren, editor and publisher of the Panhandle Herald.

"Most Dependable Car in America!"

Everyone knows that Pontiac is famous for dependability. If you want personal confirmation, talk to a few owners who have driven Pontiacs over the years. You'll be surprised how many say: "Pontiac is the most dependable car in America!"

That's an important reason why the 1951 Pontiac is in such tremendous demand. True, it's the most beautiful thing on wheels—a joy to drive and ride in. But Pontiac dependability is convincing a lot of people to make Pontiac their first choice.

Long, trouble-free operation is a big reason why dollar for dollar, you can't beat a Pontiac! Come in and get the facts and figures that prove it.

Wild Bill Hickok was in North Platte, Nebraska in a restaurant and two of his enemies (he had quite a few) came gunning for him, one from the front door and the other from the back — but Wild Bill had been warned and was ready and waiting. There was a mirror above the front door, which came in mighty handy for Wild Bill. He drew his pistols, both of them, with a movement almost quicker than the eye could perceive, and with one he killed the man in front of him and at the same time with the other gun hand resting on the opposite shoulder, he killed the men behind him, looking at the mirror. It was believed for a long time thereafter that Bill had eyes in the back of his head, or some sixth sense.

The first Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth was held in 1896 with C. C. French and Charlie McFarland, the latter from Weatherford, as leading spirits. First night of the show there came a sleet storm, and, next morning, the cattle were coated with sleet as they hunched under live-oak and pecan trees. But the sun came out and all present — including the cattle — felt happier. The premiums were cowboy hats, boots, spurs, bridles, windmills and troughs. From this beginning develpend one of the great institutions of Fort Worth — Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, originator of the indoor rodeo, a great factor in improving the standard of livestock and presenting the color and excitement of the Southwest to thousands of visitors each year.

Summer Campus School Will Be Operated by Canyon Schools and West Texas State One Term

By cooperative agreement between West Texas State College and the Canyon Independent School District, the Campus Summer School for elementary and high school age pupils will be available for all Panhandle students this summer.

A single term will be held for elementary age pupils beginning June 4 at 9 o'clock and continuing through July 13.

High school students may enroll for two terms, June 4 through July 13 and July 16 through August 24. Registration for both elementary and high school classes will be held June 4 in the Education building. Rex Reeves will be principal of the summer school with Dr. Ruth Lowes and Emmitt Smith, college consultants.

A stimulating program of activities has been planned for the Campus Elementary School. Well trained teachers will lead the children of the first four grade levels in an enriched program of extended education. The program in the upper elementary grades will be built around an interest core in Arts and Crafts. Planned attention will be given to increased skill and interest in reading, spelling, language and arithmetic.

High school students in the Campus Summer School may earn as much as 1½ units of state approved credit. Courses will be provided in any area for which there is a demand. High school students may live in the college dormitories upon application. All students may eat at the college cafeteria if they wish.

A supervised recreational program, conducted by the Canyon Recreation Council is closely related in the planning of a Summer School program. Swimming, hiking, handicrafts, supervised games, story telling, The Children's Theatre, Saturday Talent Show, and many other features will characterize the summer recreational program.

Further information may be secured from Mr. Rex Reeves, Box 312, Station 1, Canyon, Texas. Interested students are urged to contact Mr. Reeves immediately.

Summer terms for the Campus Summer School coincide with term dates of the two 6-week sessions of the college. Therefore, an opportunity is available for students whose parents will be attending West Texas State.

Buffs Game on Thursday Night Is Rained Out

Buffalo Stadium was under water Thursday making it necessary for the spring football game to be cancelled.

The kick off stag supper which was scheduled for six o'clock was cancelled when it became apparent that the roads were too bad for football fans from over the area to reach Canyon for the supper.

Due to the fact that this week is the closing period for West Texas State, no final game will be played for exhibition purposes by the Buffalo squad. Season tickets for the fall game are on sale at Bob's Campus Shop. The same tickets are allotted to each season ticket holder as they bought last season.

Five home games will be played, four at the Amarillo stadium, and the Homecoming game with Hardin-Simmons University at Buffalo Stadium.

Service & Supply Popular With Farmers

In this edition where effort has been put forth to give the readers a word picture of the institutions who serve our area it is fitting that prominent mention be given to Service and Supply, 1301 W. 6th in Amarillo.

They are headquarters for MURPHY DIESEL IRRIGATION ENGINES which are designed to utilize to the utmost the diesel engine's inherent advantages of economy and durability. You will find in industry that Murphy engines are used on the really tough jobs—that is why this simple and economical diesel engine is so popular for irrigation purposes.

Service and Supply, under the able management of H. F. Champion are always glad to consult with prospective customers on the type MURPHY DIESEL ENGINE that will suit your purpose. In addition they have Fairbanks-Morse gearheads, windmills which turn in the slightest breeze. They are self-oiling, roller bearings with gears and ball bearings in the turntable which is the reason for their high efficiency. Fairbanks-Morse complete Water Systems in the proper capacity to meet your needs are sold by this aggressive concern.

The service department of Service & Supply is staffed by experienced mechanics and their shop is modernly equipped in order to furnish the very best repair service on all types and makes of Engines, Pumps and other equipment.

Service and Supply are also dealers for the well known line DED-TOX Insecticides — there is no better or more complete line on the market. You will find that DED-TOX has a specific insecticide for every farm need for both livestock and agricultural crop insect control. They also handle the popular "SOYLAID" (Nature's Soil Conditioner) which is truly "THE KEY TO RICH SOIL." You will find "FERTILINE," the marvel fertilizer for the small grain grower and shows marked increases in yields when seed grain is treated with "FERTILINE" before planting. One gallon of this new liquid fertilizer is diluted with ½ gallon of water and treats from 10 to 12 bushels of seed grain at a cost of less than 60c per acre.

Any problems that our readers may have regarding farm chemicals, insecticides, "SOYLAID" and "FERTILINE" will gladly be explained without obligation by Service and Supply. They will gladly point out how these products will benefit you and actually prove most profitable.

We are glad to single out Service and Supply in Amarillo and recommend them to our many readers. They serve the agricultural interests of the Panhandle most admirably and go out of their way to help their customers in any way that they can which is, of course, the reason for their ever increasing business.

HAPPY ENDING

When Henry, aged nine, discovered that he would have to share one shaggy, exceedingly friendly pup with his little sister Peggy, he staked out his claim thus: "I'll take the head-end — that holds the brains."

"That's all right with me," little sister agreed. "I'll take the tail end — 'cause that's the end that shows he's happy!"

Artisans Make Homes More Beautiful

The interior decorating field is highly specialized and a service that means so much to the beauty and taste of the modern home. In these modern times the wise home owners avail themselves of the counseling service on home decorations such as that offered by Artisan Furniture Manufacturing and upholstering Co., 2920 W. 6th in Amarillo.

Our community is most fortunate in having such a complete upholstering, drapery and slip-cover service specializing in those things that make the home attractive because of complete harmony of the furnishings, walls and accessories. The Artisan counseling service is so well known that many of their customers are from towns, cities and communities several hundred miles from Amarillo, because they offer a complete upholstering service featuring hundreds of different patterns in fabrics. The selection of materials for slip-covers and matching or harmonizing drapes is one of the most complete in the Southwest. There is such a difference in slip covers and drapes that are made special and the cost over the ready-made and ill fitting ones is very little compared with the added taste, beauty and wearing qualities.

The next time you are in Amarillo be sure to drop into Artisan Furniture Manufacturing and Upholstering Co. and see the many new patterns in fabrics for reupholstering your divan or that favorite chair and matching and harmonizing patterns for new drapes and slip covers that will make your home the attractive place that you want it to be.

'BEHIND BEFORE'

Henry and Oscar, two old fellows, were partners in a barber shop. Each morning it was Henry who opened the shop for business, and, as usual, about 10 minutes later Oscar would arrive.

One morning Henry went to the shop and, to his surprise, found Oscar there. This went on for several days, each time Henry went to the shop, there was Oscar.

So, Henry thinking this rather strange, remarked to him:

"Why are you so early of late?" You used to be behind before, now you are first at last."

PLEASED

An elderly woman bought a cottage on the American-Canadian border. Both governors sent surveyors to find out which country she was in. One surveyor finally said, "I'm positive that your cottage is on the American side by three inches."

"I'm so glad," replied the woman. "I've heard that the winters in Canada are so severe."

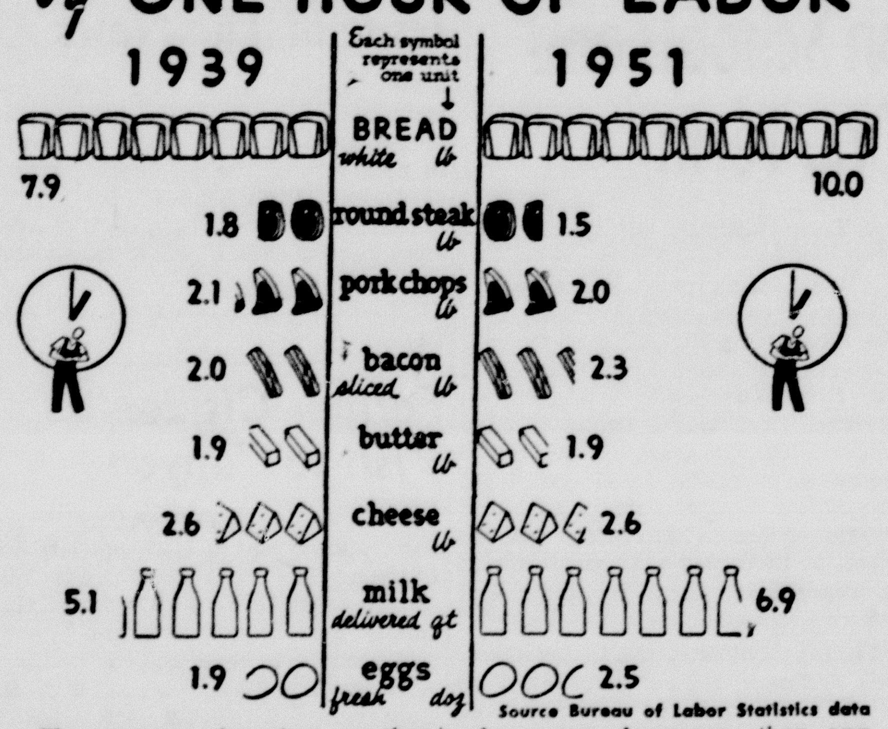
FOOD BOUGHT by ONE HOUR OF LABOR



Source Bureau of Labor Statistics data

The average American worker today can buy more food with an hour's labor than at any time in recent years, despite advanced retail prices, according to reports submitted to the House Agriculture Committee by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

"An hour's earnings in a factory may buy less of some things now than it has in the past, but it will buy more food," he said.

Comparing February, 1951, purchasing power with other years, the figures showed that an hour of factory labor buys 25% more bread than in 1939, 50% more than in 1929 and twice as much as in 1919.

Analyses show that bread also contains more actual nutritive value, penny-for-penny, than any other food, according to the American Bakers Association. The baking industry this year is observing the tenth anniversary of white bread enrichment, which nutrition experts declare has improved materially the health of the American people.

Citing this improvement in health, Dr. Elmer L. Henderson, president of the American Medical Association, states that "I do not think it is too much to say that a very important part of the more buoyant health and increased mental and physical vigor the American people enjoy today can be directly credited to the enrichment of bread with essential vitamins and minerals."

NO HURRY

A lawyer and a clerk were on their way down town on the trolley the other morning, when the clerk looked up from his paper and said:

"My, that's a pretty girl over there in the corner."

The lawyer looked up from his paper. Then he smiled.

"I know her," he said. "I know her well."

"Holy smoke, man," said the clerk, "if you know her why don't you go over and sit with her?"

"I will," the lawyer answered, "as soon as she pays her fare."

A GRADUAL PROCESS

Little Betty, like most other children never wanted to go to bed. One evening she was naughty, and as a punishment her mother placed her on a chair in one corner of the room.

"And don't you dare get down till you are good," said the vexed parent.

After a while mother said:

"Betty, it is time for you to go to bed."

The child shook her head.

"Oh, no, mummy!" she said. "I'm not good enough yet."

Graham-Hoeme Plow Co. Has Enviable Reputation

Amarillo has assumed its present position of prominence in the affairs of the country because of the splendid commercial enterprises which make their headquarters there. The Graham-Hoeme Plow Co., Inc. is one of those more substantial companies which has added very materially in the building of this community. This firm has been in business for some time, and over that period of time has made many thousands of friends in this section. The management of the Graham-Hoeme Plow Co., Inc. has built a business on a policy of strictest adherence to rigid business principles. The firm has placed more value on the friendship of its customers than on their money, and the result has been a feeling of confidence which the company carefully fosters.

Mr. W. T. Graham, Pres., is the man responsible for the fine reputation which the organization enjoys in this section. He is the man who takes his civic responsibilities in a very serious manner, and he may be depended upon to lend his time and energy to the support of any project which promises to benefit the community as a whole. We congratulate Mr. Graham and the Graham-Hoeme Plow Co. on their splendid reputation and hope that they will continue to succeed and to serve the people of this area as they have in the past.

Goldsmith's Dairy Products Popular

One of the most modern and completely equipped dairy products distributors in the Panhandle and one that has gained popularity because of their outstanding products and efficient delivery service is Goldsmith Dairy Foods, 2409 W. 7th in Amarillo. GOLDSMITH'S DOUBLE SEAL, FARM FRESH MILK is the utmost in quality. Their Sealright—Double Seal Hood gives complete protection. It is tamper-proof, leak-proof and easy to remove. "FARM FRESH" gives you highest quality milk from selected Grade A dairies only—it is pure, safe, wholesome and extra rich.

Goldsmith's plant is new and modernly equipped for the production of pasteurized and homogenized dairy products. Besides "FARM FRESH MILK" they supply buttermilk, cream, cottage cheese, chocolate milk, orange drink, eggs and butter.

There is no other concern in the Panhandle that has done more to encourage dairying and the raising of dairy cows than Goldsmith Dairy Foods. They provide a ready market for milk to the producers who can qualify under their sanitary and quality standards. The price paid for Grade A milk to the dairies is always the highest.

Goldsmith Dairy Foods are to be congratulated on the high quality of their products and for their share in the progress of dairy farming in the Panhandle.

New Life Begins For Child Found On Battlefield

WILLIAMSBURG, Va.—The life of Patsy Li, a 15-year-old Chinese girl, has been filled with adventure more sensational than the usual fiction story.

It was eight years ago that two American marines found a tiny, helpless Chinese child wandering aimlessly about a thundering battleground in Guadalcanal.

Her face was flushed with fever. There was an ugly gash on her head and bayonet wounds on her arms and legs.

On that day in 1943, no one dared to hope that the little girl would live. Natives had slipped her from behind Japanese lines to a spot where the marines would find her.

Sheltered by Lt. Cdr. Frederick P. Gehring, a navy chaplain, she cried when she first saw his uniform. When the Japanese bombed the encampment, he hid her in foxholes. She clung to life and recovered.

Chaplain Names Child

It was in a foxhole that Father Gehring found a name for her: Patsy Li. The selection of that name was another of the sensational incidents in her life. It happened that he gave her precisely the name that had been hers from birth.

Thus, relatives who read their newspapers found Patsy and took her, after the war, back under their wing.

Patsy's mother, Mrs. Ruth Li, lived in Singapore when the Japanese struck in 1941. In Feburary, 1942, with the enemy close at hand, Mrs. Li and her two young daughters left with other refugees on the SS Kaula, bound for Australia.

The loaded steamship fell under Japanese air attack off the Netherlands East Indies and was sunk. Mrs. Li held her children tightly and leaped from the vessel before it went down.

She placed Patsy, then 6, on a bit of wreckage. She lost her grip on two-year-old Lottie Li and the child drowned. When she was finally dragged aboard a life raft, Patsy was nowhere to be found.

Travels 3,000 Miles

No one knows how Patsy Li reached Guadalcanal. She herself was too young to remember. But it is 3,000 miles from the island to the spot where the SS Kuala was sunk.

After she was found, bleeding and ragged, by the marines, and recovered from her wounds and fever, Patsy became a virtual mascot for the corps.

When the war was over, Mrs. Li made her way to Patsy, then on the island of Efate, from Singapore. That was in 1946. The two went back to Singapore to live.

Now, nine years later, Patsy Li has arrived in the United States to get a high school education. The arrangements were made by Father Gehring who is now director of the Cincentian mission in China, with headquarters in Philadelphia.

Immigrant Shows Gratitude By Leaving Lodge $10,000

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Odd Fellows lodge of Green Bay received $10,824 recently and therein is one of the strangest stories of many a day.

Sixty years ago while the lodge hall was abuilding, a penniless immigrant youth asked the member in charge for a job.

When the building was finished, the workman—one Nels Johnson—asked the boss if there was anything he could do to show his appreciation.

And the boss replied jokingly, "If you ever get any money, you might leave some to the IOOF."

A half century later members of the lodge were advised by a Rochelle (Ill.) attorney that one Nels Johnson had left them a bequest.

The name meant nothing. Some optimistic souls thought the bequest might be $100.

When the check arrived it was for $10,824. That was the dividend paid by the Danish immigrant, factory hand, industrialist and finally financier. Johson left an estate in excess of $200,000.

Kentuckian Is Stuck With 30,000 Metal Bound Balls

LITTLE FERRY, N.J.—A Little Ferry aeronautical instrument firm has come to the rescue of Lawrence Calhoun of Cold Spring, Ky., who has 30,000 wooden balls with metal clamps around them that he had purchased from the war assets administration.

The firm said they could use some of the balls, about 500, as joints for airplane aerials. A company spokesman said he didn't know what he could do with 30,000.

He explained that the balls could be used as universal joints through which the aerial runs on an airplane.

Calhoun said he purchased the balls believing he could use them, but discovered later that he could not. He still has 29,500 to sell.

I always admire the wisdom of those who come to me for advice.

CONSUMERS

Americans have switched from buying new goods to paying for what they already have, according to Federal Reserve Report, which showed that consumers over the nation reduced installment plan and charge account debits for the third straight month in March. Charge accounts were reduced by $72,000,000 in March in the face of the Easter season, while installment plan debt was reduced by $95,000,000, making a cumulative reduction of $489,000,000 since this year began.

FARM LAND PRICES

The general average price of farm real estate increased 14 per cent between March, 1950 and March, 1951, according to the Agriculture Department, which points out that it is now nine per cent above the previous record set in November, 1948.

FARM MORTGAGES

Farm mortgages last year totaled more than $1,700,000,000, the largest total since 1934, when the Government stepped in to help financially depressed farm owners refinance farm loans.

WAR DEAD

American war dead, including those killed in the Revolution, reached the total of about 996,500 as of April 19. Military deaths during the first six months of conflict in Korea, 7,500, exceed by more than 1,100 the total number of Colonial soldiers killed during eight years of the Revolutionary War.

WHATEVER THE GAIT

A Senate-House committee issues a warning against "galloping" inflation. Yes, and they can include "running," "walking," "sauntering" and "creeping." Inflation by whatever gait, if permitted to go on and on, is eventual paralysis.

TRAFFIC DEAD

The Association of Casualty and Surety Companies estimate that, since the first fatal automobile accident 51 years ago, nearly 975,000 persons have been killed in traffic accidents.

First Iron Lung Saved Boy's Life Just 21 Years Ago

NEW YORK—Just 21 years ago a mechanical cotraption played an important part in a hair raising drama of life and death. Since then it has become one of the greatest inventions for life saving in the United States.

The contraption was a Drinker respirator, named after its inventor, Dr. Philip Drinker of the Harvard school of public health. The public quickly dubbed it the iron lung.

Twenty-one years ago there was only one in existence and its future was uncertain. No one knew if it could save human life by taking over human breathing. Then Barret Hoyt was stricken with polio.

The youth was dying. He was smothering to death, his breathing muscles paralyzed. Physicians gave him half an hour or so to live.

Tried With One Patient

Attending Hoyt, then a 21-year-old Harvard university senior, was Dr. S. D. Dramer. Sometime before, Dr. Drinker's new machine had been tried on a polio patient, but the patient had died of pneumonia.

Dr. Dramer decided that the iron lung was Hoyt's only chance and began making telephone calls. Dr. Drinker rushed to a warehouse, got a taxicab, and raced to Peter Bent Brigham hospital. Dr. W. L. Aycock of the Harvard poliomyelitis commission, hurried over from his office across the street to help set up the machine. Dr. Drinker arrived just as an ambulance brought in young Hoyt.

He was barely breathing when he was put in the machine. The motor started and the pressure gauge needle flickered. Pumps raised the air pressure inside the airtight chamber in which Hoyt lay. Air was forced gently from his lungs. Then the pressure inside the machine fell and air rushed back into Hoyt's lungs through his nose and mouth.

Helped Thousands

In a few moments the iron lung was pulsing rhythmically. Hoyt fell asleep, exhausted from the long hours of straining to make his breathing muscles operate.

He lay in the lung for four weeks. The machine never faltered, but Dr. Drinker had his own anxious moments for the next few days and nights, wondering and worrying whether it would keep on with its life giving pulse.

Hoyt was discharged from the hospital and now lives with his family in Brookline, Mass., and works for an insurance firm.

Since then, iron lungs have saved or helped thousands of victims of polio and respiratory diseases. The nation has a supply of some 3,650 iron lungs, ranging from the 700-pound Drinker type, made by several firms and costing $1,500 to $2,000 each, to portable one-pound chest plates.

Old Hands at It—

SCHOOL AID

Grants totalling $46,500,000 have been set aside for 100 school construction projects in "Federally-affected" school districts and on Federal property. Twenty-five of the grants will help build school houses for children who actually live on Federal reservations, mostly military posts. Seventy-five grants have been set aside, pending a final confirmation, for building more school rooms in districts where the attendance has been tremendously swollen by Federal projects nearby. The money will go into 29 States.

WHEAT

The carryover of wheat on July 1st will be about 425,000,000 bushels, or about the same as a year ago, according to the Bureau of Agriculture Economics. Latest forecasts indicate this year's crop will be about 1,000,000,000 bushels.

TAX CONCESSIONS

Treasury officials estimate that tax concessions to business in connection with the defense production program will cost the Government $1,300,000,000 in lost revenue during the next five years. Concessions already approved amount to $2,800,000,000 worth of new construction, according to a Treasury official.

DISEASES

The death rate in the U. S. declined by two-tenths of one per cent in 1949, according to the federal security agency, with heart disease and cancer accounting for half the 1,446,000 deaths in that year. There were fewer cases of diptheria, influenza, malaria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and small pox during 1949, but "new highs" were reported for chickenpox, amebic dysentery and polio.

WHEAT PROSPECTS

Crop forecasters are predicting one of the smallest winter wheat crops in years. While the Federal forecast was for 726,512,000 bushels on April 10, experts in wheat-producing areas point out that some areas expect the worst production since the dust storms and drought of 1936, mostly due to bad weather and insect infestation.

HOUSING CONTROLS

The National Production Authority has extended its control over construction of "luxury" housing — single-family homes costing over $35,000 — big apartments, industrial plants and public projects. No construction of this type may be started without its approval.

DRAFT CALL

The Army has issued a draft call for 20,000 men in June, the smallest number in any monthly call since the draft was resumed last September. Since that time, a total of 550,000 men have been drafted or placed on call for army duty.

Resolution Asks Court Bill Recall

Senator Grady Hazlewood has passed a resolution asking for the recall of the measure which would transfer Armstrong from the 47th judicial district. The Senator introduced the bill early in the session upon request of 200 Armstrong county voters.

State Representative Morris Cobb writes The News was in error in stating that he handled the bill in the House. He did not handle this legislation.

RESERVES

The Defense Department has disclosed the fact that reservists, called to meet emergency needs in Korea, will be released, starting in June, according to a new National Reserves program. Meanwhile, the Army has cut its May draft call from 50,000 to 40,000 men—because voluntary enlistments have run higher than expected, and casualties in the Korean war have been lighter than indicated.

REVENUE

Federal revenues in the 1952 fiscal year, which begins July 1st, are expected to exceed revised treasury estimates by $2,400,000,000, according to Congressional Staff Tax Experts. The congressional staff based its revenue calculations on the assumption that personal incomes in the 1951 calendar year would aggregate $255,000,00,000.

TAX REVENUE

Income and excess profits tax collections in March more than doubled the figures for March, 1950, according to the Internal Revenue Bureau. The total was $4,316,357,000 as against $2,110,853,000 in March, 1950. Overall internal revenue collections in March were listed as $7,764,757,000, a gain of $3,076,841,000.

CIVILIAN PAY ROLL

An increase of nearly a man-a-minute in the armed forces' civilian pay rolls in the past year was reported by the Senate-House Economy Committee, of which Senator Harry F. Byrd, is chairman. Civilian agencies added 407,233 since March, 1950, to a new total of 1,744,525.

SERIES E BONDS

The first Series E savings bonds issued will mature this month — some $112,000,000 of them. About $1,000,000,000 worth of Series E bonds bought after May in 1941 will mature during 1951.

FACTORY JOBS

While the number of persons leaving factory jobs rose noticeably between February and March, the hiring of factory employes in March kept pace with the high rate of recent months. Workers were added to factory pay rolls at the rate of 47 per 1,000 employes in March and people quit their jobs at the rate of 26 per 1,000 employes, compared to 21 per 1,000 in February.

STATE SPENDING

State government spending in the fiscal year 1950 totaled $13,183,000,000 and total revenue amounted to $11,863,000,000 — both new highs. Heavy borrowing by the states increased their outstanding debt to a record high of $5,286,000,000 at the end of the fiscal 1950, as compared with the post-war low of $2,367,000,000 at the end of 1946.

CHANDLER JEWELRY

Husbands Trade Their Wives On Quick Jaunt to Mexico

PARADISE, Calif. — People do strange things in the name of love. One of the strangest, the second such case in less than a year, was the swapping of wives by two Paradise husbands.

When the couples left Paradise together they were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kerr, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wingett. They went to Mexico where Mrs. Doris Kerr became the wife of Dick Wingett and Mrs. Mary Wingett was married to Elmer Kerr.

They left Paradise on a Friday, obtained their divorces on Saturday and the new marriages were performed on Sunday. Then the couples drove home together.

The original Wingetts had a 12 year old son who will remain with the Kerrs. The original Kerrs' daughter, 10, will live with the Wingetts. The children will visit between homes.

Both families said they were moving to another town because neighbors didn't like the new arrangement.

It was the second such case in the town of Paradise in less than a year.

One-Gun Salute Flattens Tennessee Guard of Honor

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Governor Gordon Browning of Tennessee was supposed to be saluted with 19-gun salvo at his inauguration, but it fizzled to a one-round affair.

A crew from nearby Stewart air force base had brought up a 105-mm howitzer to do the firing honors.

A crisp order, and the big gun let go with round one. Statues of departed Tennessee statesmen shuddered and rocked on their foundations on the capitol grounds. State highway patrolmen and the guard of honor, at stiff attention, were almost flattened by the concussion.

The gun commander quickly ordered a cease-fire.

Browning, himself an old artilleryman and veteran of both world wars, went on undisturbed with the inaugural ceremony for his second two-year term.

Wilbur Shaw thinks so much of this new Chrysler, he has selected it as Pace Car for the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

"I've just driven the most powerful car* in the U.S."

WILBUR SHAW, AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS DRIVER, DRIVES NEW 1951 CHRYSLER—REPORTS TO YOU ON REVOLUTIONARY FIREPOWER ENGINE AND HYDRAGUIDE POWER STEERING

Here are Wilbur Shaw's reactions—in his own words—as taken down by a recording machine in the car:

"The '51 Chrysler has it! With this new engine and power steering, the first on any U.S. car, it's a whale of an automobile.

"I'm completely bowled over by the ease of steering!

"This steering combined with the automatic transmission . . . is the nearest thing to an automatic pilot for a car I can possibly imagine.

"This engine . . . I can't get over the amount of power and snap in this engine . . . it's incredible!

"I drove 111 miles with the feeling I had expended no more effort than in driving around the block.

"When Mrs. Shaw drove, her comments just about squared with mine. Here's what she thinks of the 1951 Chrysler . . ."

Mrs. Shaw: "At first I could hardly believe the ease with which I could turn the wheel. That's important . . . especially in the summertime.

"Often after I have parked a car in the average parking space, I feel I should taxi home, shower and get dressed again. But with Hydraguide Power Steering I parked it with one hand. It practically drives itself."

Wilbur Shaw: "It's hard to describe this new Chrysler without going off the deep end . . . it's better in every department.

"In fact, I think so much of this car, I've selected it as Pace Car of the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race!"

Something to HOLD to

WHAT a privilege and good fortune! Something to hold to in the hour of need! Grateful women and men have called this "something" a "rock in a weary land," a place of refuge from heat and storm, a place to rest when worn and fatigued with the tasks of the day. Others have found it a lamp for their feet, a light upon the pathway a man must take, if he is to arrive at the true goal and destiny of the soul. It is a lamp by whose light we are brought into the larger brightness of One who is "The Light of the World."

IT IS the Book of Faith, which is "the substance of things hoped for." It gives assurance of the things not seen, but which are eternal. We depend too much on the seen things which vanish in the night and in the hour of peril. This Book brings us to God and to the Power of love and of goodness. Here is the help we must have in the hours of stress and strain, in sorrow and in temptation. If we learn to cling to the Bible and its Truth, we shall discover that the God of the Bible and of Truth will hold us, when we are no longer able ourselves to hold the Book. He who takes the proffered hand of God will discover that the Father's grip will hold us firmly when his own strength fails. We find God and He finds us; we hold on to God and He holds on to us.

TAKE the Bible then in both your hands. Cling to it in days of sunshine and of health and of busy toil. It will bless us in hours of darkness and of sickness and of age. It is as abiding as the Rock of Gibraltar, and as dependable. Hold to it! Your fathers trusted it and its God; they were not ashamed nor were they forsaken.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

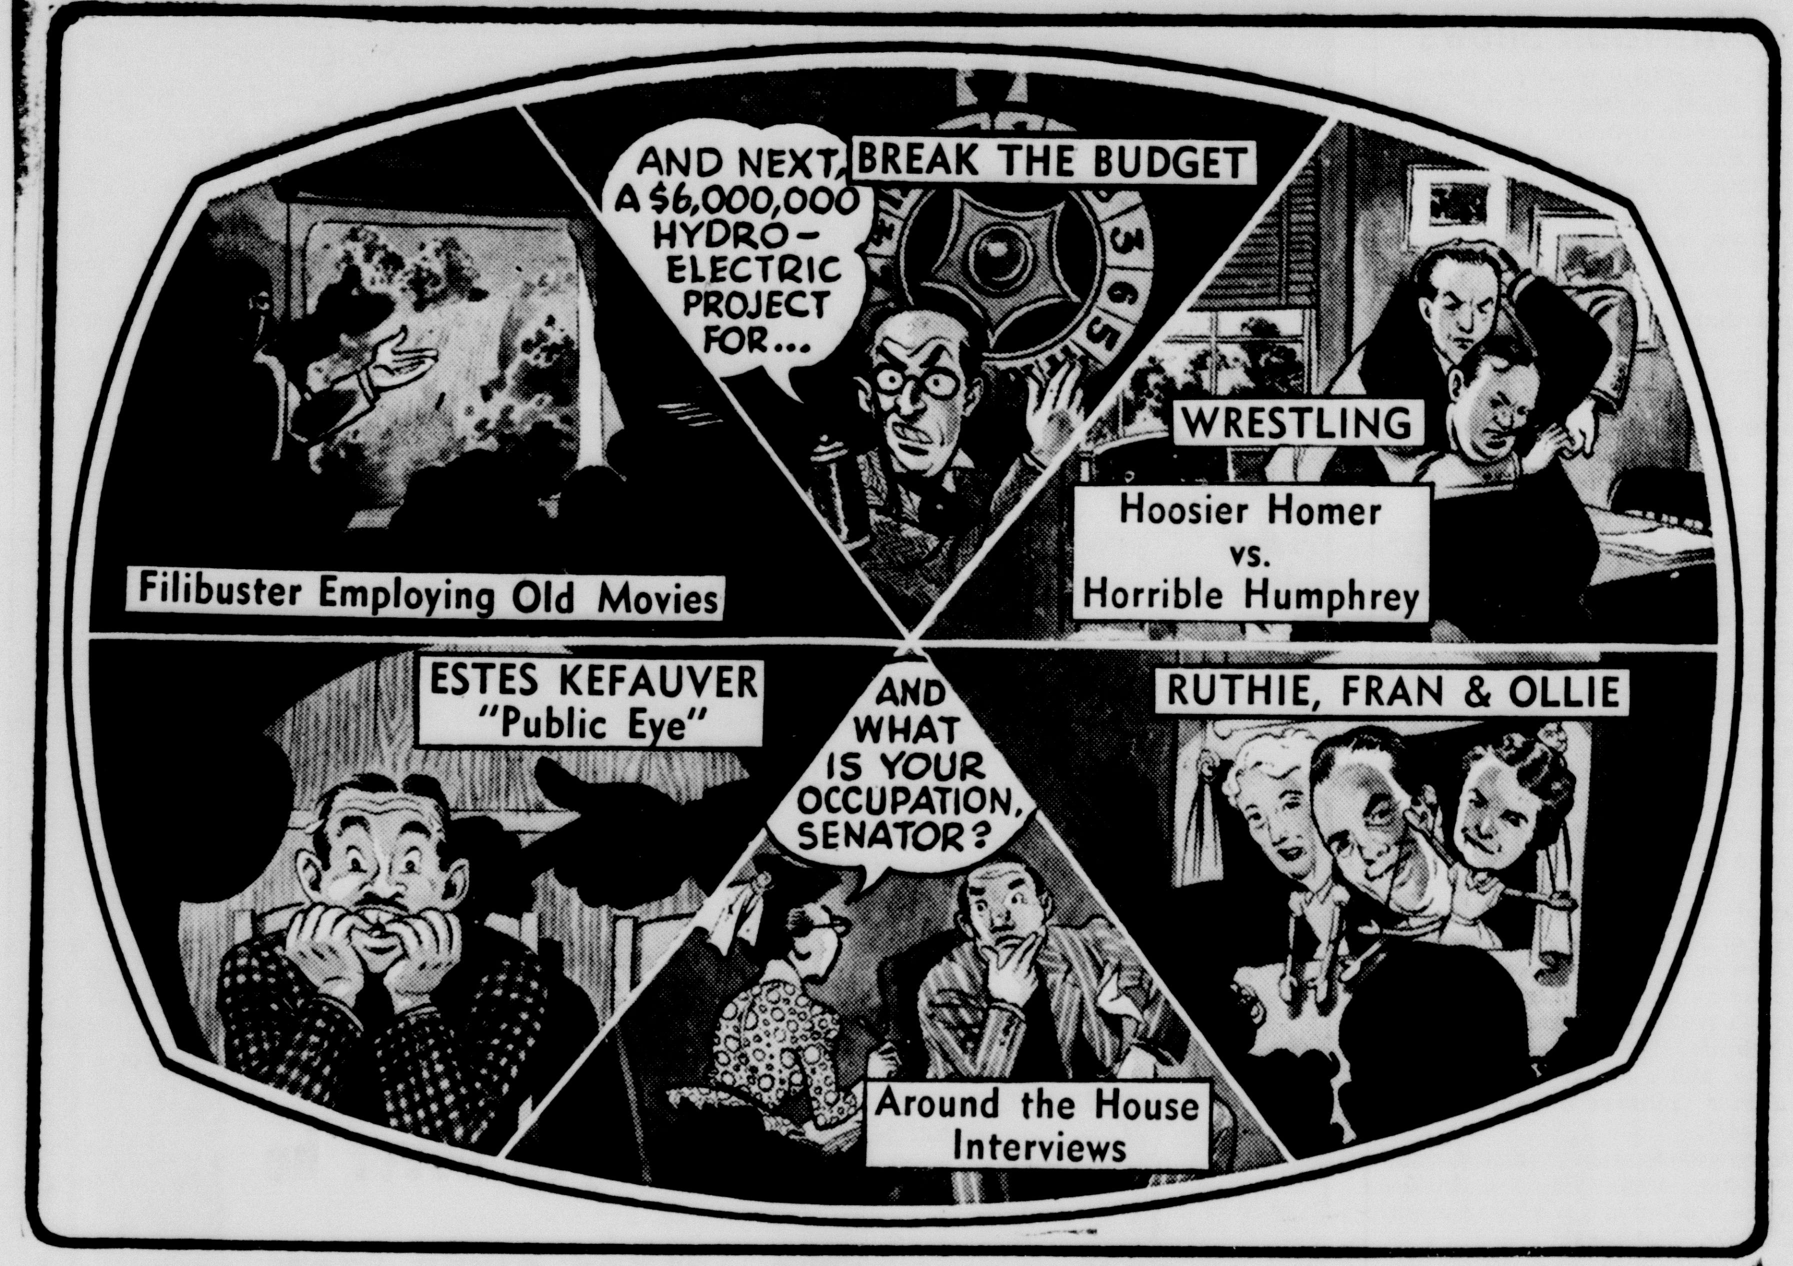
If Congress Goes Video, You Saw It Here First



Will regular sessions of Congress ever be televised? No one knows for sure but informed sources agree that Capitol Hill doings could be the biggest thing to hit video since Beatrice Lillie's strapless slipped. A few of the most far-fetched possibilities are illustrated on the TV screen above. Starting at top and going clockwise: "Break The Budget," a big money game inspired by pork barrel legislation and played with the taxpayer's money. Cloakroom tussels like the one reported to have taken place between Senators Humphrey and Capehart would rate high with mat fans. And for puppet show devotees, likenesses of Sen. Olin Johnston (S. C.) and Representatives Frances Bolton (O.) and Ruth Thompson (Mich.) would be a natural. "Around the House" would feature chatty interviews to help viewers relax before a spine-tingling presentation of "Estes Kefauver, Public Eye." To wind up a long day in front of a hot tube, dial-twisters might tune their set to a filibuster employing movies—some of them almost as old as Congress itself!

Lone Star Trailer & Mfg. Co. Are Aid To Progress

Of great help to the agricultural interests and the general development of the Panhandle Lone Star Trailer & Mfg. Co., 206 E. 36th in Amarillo have not only gained prominence but have made an outstanding record. They manufacture all types of truck beds and bodies and do a general repair business on them—welding, rebuilding, painting, etc. They handle HERCULESE JDX hydraulic hoists for all types of truck bodies, FARMERS FRIEND, cable hoist for trucks or trailer beds and can be used with grain blowers, post hole diggers, gin poles, grain augers, loading scoop. The line of winches can be quickly unhooked and used for pulling purposes without underthreading. They also have BALDWIN hydro-electric truck bed hoists and the well known BALDWIN "Center Drive" grain loader, granary gate hoppers.

Lone Star are manufacturers of the ROW CROP WEED KING which is available in either two or four row . . . it is sturdy, durable, easily assembled and adaptable to many uses. It has an adjustable rotary hoe to break crust so young crops can come through and rid the row of small weeds. With the use of the discs it will throw dirt to or from the plants or may be used for irrigation. It plows or sweeps to till or stir the soil. With the knives, all growth between the rows may be cut. They also manufacture the SOIL KING which is durable, simple to operate, adaptable and flexible and may be used for any soil conservation, subsoiling on contour, soil mulching is adaptable for spiking orchards and alfalfa.

The high quality of Lone Star Trailer and Mfg. Co. products and their repair service which is second to none, coupled with the progressive policies inaugurated by general manager W. T. Gassaway makes this Panhandle industry a real aid to the progress of our farmers and the entire community.

Arizona U. Takes BC Tennis Title

The University of Arizona swept all four events to win the Border Conference tennis meet held in Tucson last Saturday. Texas Western the pre-tourney favorite, finished in the runnerup position with Texas Tech third. West Texas State, Arizona State College at Tempe, Hardin-Simmons, New Mexico, and New Mexico A&M were far behind the leaders.

Texas Western's Miners put up surprisingly little resistance in the finals with Jim Dye of Arizona, who had been seeded No. 2 in the pre-tourney ratings handing Winston Farquer of Texas Western, seeded No. 1, very easily, winning the class A singles in straight sets 6-3 and 6-2.

Bob Charles of Arizona defeated Bill Fairley, TW's first seeded class B singles player, 6-2, 6-3, to capture the other singles event.

Dye and Sam Lindamond combined to take the Class A doubles from Farquer and Rodolfo Gonzales of Texas Western 8-6, 4-6, 6-1.

In the Class B doubles event Charles and Marty Shaw downed Fairley and Sam Kobren of Texas Western 6-4, 6-8, and 6-4.

Dry Weather Turns Farmers To Jeoffroy Plows

Amarillo's leading manufacturer of agricultural implements is constantly working and developing new equipment that is adapted to farming in the Panhandle and other localities that experience dry climatic conditions and a deficiency in rainfall. Farmers have found by using the JEOFFROY Soil Control Cultivator that the soil resists erosion, the cost is reduced about one-half and it also stops blowing. It is useful to stubble land immediately after harvest. By using the two-inch wide "chisel" points as deep as possible, the land is put in shape to sponge up the summer rains. The JEOFFROY breaks up the hardpan and makes way for moisture to penetrate farther into the subsoil.

JEOFFROY now offers a valuable new attachment for all JEOFFROY models—a seeding attachment made by Dempster. Its big advantage in this area is that you need not wait until the ground is moist on the surface or until immediately following a rain to plant. If there is any subsurface moisture at all, it can be reached with the chisel plow and seeding attachment. Last year, a number of farmers in this area planted all of their wheat with a chisel drill. This spring we are having an excellent opportunity to observe the benefits of that kind of planting. In many instances, stands of wheat planted with this equipment even as dry as it has been are very good, while wheat on adjoining acreage which was planted with conventional drill has not shown good development. This seeding attachment is ideal for planting all types of sorghum, maize and other small grains. This revolutionary seeder is easily mounted on all JEOFFROY, as well as other makes of chisel plows.

Roy Jeffroy, president and Ray L. Jeoffroy, vice president and sales manager of Jeoffroy Mfg. Co. are to be complimented on their untiring efforts in the interests of the agricultural developments in this section and the "welcome mat" is always out to those interested in the promotion of better farming by the use of more modern and efficient machinery and they are glad to give the benefit of their wide experience and research in the farm machinery field to those who seek it. We compliment this aggressive Amarillo plow manufacturer on their outstanding developments and interest in the Panhandle.

Thomas Paint And Supply Help Beautify Homes

Some of the homes of this area are recognized for their fine appearance and much of the beautification can be attributed to Thomas Paint & Supply in Amarillo at 700 W. 10th where there is unlimited space to accommodate their customers with free parking.

This aggressive Amarillo paint store features Pittsburg Paint for all purposes. They also have LUMINAL the washable water paint and are jobbers for the Panhandle and Eastern New Mexico for EAGLE PICHER paints and white lead. They have one of the largest stocks of painters supplies including drop cloths, scaffolding, brushes and the best of quality products for painters and interior decorators.

Jack C. Thomas, owner, is one of the leading painting contractors in the district and has contracted the painting work on some of the largest commercial buildings and industries as well as residences. He uses only the very best materials. His craftsmen are thoroughly experienced. Mr. Thomas is always pleased to discuss painting problems with those wishing to contract a painting job. He will gladly furnish free estimates and while he has never made price the means of obtaining a contract, those who have used his services say that his charges are most reasonable when the quality of work and material are taken into consideration. Store buildings are painted over night and out of town work solicited.

Thomas Paint & Supply also have floor sanders to rent and many other items in stock that go along with a first class painting and decorating job.

The success of the paint and supply business as well as the paint contracting department can be attributed to the policy of fair dealing, the very best merchandise and material, experienced workmen and reasonable prices. We are glad to recommend this outstanding concern to our many readers.

Cycle of Colder Weather Seen By Scientists

BOSTON, Mass.—The nation's farmers can expect shorter growing season during the next 25 years, according to Dr. Raymond H. Wheeler of the Weather Science Foundation, Crystal Lake, Ill.

The unusual weather last fall is merely an introduction to 50 years of colder climate to come, says Dr. Wheeler.

The present weather changes fit war predictions based on weather which Dr. Wheeler, then a professor at Kansas University, made seven years ago.

He then had charted 17,000 battles in world history, to find that both World War I and II came in warm periods. In cold periods, like the one now starting, he found that although wars continued, there were smaller, usually civil conflicts. Nations in the cold times turned to reconstruction. Love of liberty grew stronger. He said Christ lived in one of the cold periods.

Cold Area Ahead

Dr. Wheeler's present predictions are concerned solely with predictions about the warm cycle, which he says is just ending, and the cold just ahead.

The cooling signs, he says, actually began about 10 years ago. Donald MacMillan, Arctic explorer, returned from the north last summer with a report that not in years had there been so much ice.

The erratic weather last fall is explained, under Dr. Wheeler's studies, as characteristic of the periods when climate is shifting from warm to colder.

Wheeler says his studies show two important cycles, one of a hundred years between two warm peaks, the other a thousand years. We are now entering the cold half of a hundred-year cycle he says.

This thousand-year shift, now on the warming-up side, has caused frost lines to advance northward in Finland, Norway, Alaska, Russia, Siberia and Canada. In Gleenland, farms and cemeteries that had been buried under ice and snow for 600 years, now are uncovered.

Because of these signs, Dr. Wheeler says, the public has been told that world climate is becoming warmer. They have not been warned about the coming drop.

World Getting Colder

"There is not the slightest chance," he says, "of the world getting steadily warmer, nor is there the slightest chance that we will escape a long, severe cold period that is on the way now."

After the thousand-year warm peak of next century, he says the hundred-year cycle will be riding the downside. Cold dips then will be worse.

"It is practically certain," he says, "that within the next few hundred years it will get so cold at times that again several feet of snow will fall in Rome; rivers will freeze solid; ice will form on the Nile in the coldest winters; and the Baltic Sea will freeze over between Germany and Sweden."

Six-Year-Old Ken Becomes Man of World for a While

FLORENCE, S. C.—When Ken Grimsley, 6, son of Judge and Mrs. Kenneth Grimsley, learned that he had a new baby sister he decided, as all men do, that it was time to do some celebrating.

Putting aside childish things, he took some of his daddy's best cigars and went around the neighborhood offering them to the other men he encountered—all the while manfully puffing on one himself.

Meeting his pastor, the Rev. Elbert H. Walker of Calvary Baptist church, young Ken gave out with the boastful greeting: "Have a ciagr, Dr. Walker. I just had a baby up at the hospital."

Shortly afterwards, Ken's thoroughly chewed cigar was weakly tossed aside by a green faced and very sick young man who had taken one more of the sometimes painful steps to manhood.

Most U. S. Children Eat Poorly, Survey Of Nutrition Shows

CLEVELAND, O.—Dr. Pauline Berry Mack, director of the Ellen H. Richards institute at Pennsylvania State college, told a science association recently that three-fourths of the nation's children suffer from some degree of undernourishment.

Dr. Mack said a nutrition study found that of 2,564 children, 75 per cent didn't get enough energy and vital nutrients from their food. And not one of them rated top health grades in strict medical examinations. Far too many had bowlegs, knockknees, fatigue, nervous habits, poor teeth and other faults.

Further, she said, it takes a long time to overcome some of the "scars of past poor food habits", and this may explain many of the physical ills of adults today.

The children represented every economic group and were higher than average in economic status, she reported.

Children under four were in the best condition. Girls 13 to 15 had the poorest records, and young women 16 to 18 were only slightly better off. Boys did a bit better.

Most showed signs of healed sores of tongue and gums, and excessive tooth decay. More than half had some type of nervous habit, such as restlessness and nail biting. Two-thirds showed signs of undue fatigue, and more than 80 per cent had poor reflexes in some part of the body.

A switch to a good diet quickly overcomes some troubles, including the buildup of most blood chemicals, Dr. Mack said.

But body size and proportion, "will change only after months and even years, and probably can never be altered entirely if the original damage was of a severe type".

Taps Sounded for Man Who Claimed to be 'The Kid'

HICO, Tex.—The man who claimed he was Billy the Kid is dead.

Brushy Bill Roberts fell dead of a heart attack as he walked the streets of Hico. He was dressed, as always, in a fringed frontier shirt, cowboy hat and boots. He claimed he was 90 years old.

Gov. T. J. Mabry of New Mexico recently refused Roberts' plea for a pardon as Billy the Kid. Roberts claimed that the story of the death of the Kid, or William H. Bonney, at the hands of Sheriff Pat Garrett in Fort Sumner, N. M., in 1881 was just legend.

California Man Crowned Champion Liar of 1950

Goulette's winning story went: "One winter when I was working on a pile driver in North Dakota, a member of our crew froze to death in bed. The ground was frozen so hard that it was impossible to dig a grave. We stood the fellow on his head under the pile driver—and we had to drive on him seven days and seven nights before we got him down far enough for a decent burial."

Joseph Flynn of Cleveland won honorable mention for this fib:

"One night when I was firing on the railroad, we got an order to go into a sidetrack to let a passenger train pass. We had 65 carloads of canaries, and couldn't get rolling—too much weight.

"I guess we would have been there yet if I hadn't hung a lighted lantern in every one of those canary cages. The birds, thinking it was morning, flew off their perches. With the birds in the air we had enough weight off the wheels so that we could get going."

Eleanor Roosevelt Heads List of Smartest Women

NEW YORK—For the second consecutive year, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was ranked first on the Book of Knowledge list of the 12 smartest women in America.

Concert singer Marian Anderson was second in the poll, which was conducted by editors of the children's encyclopedia.

Listed in the top 12 for the second consecutive year were Anne O'Hare McCormick of the New York Times, Mme. Vijaya Pandit, Indian ambassador to the United States, columnist Dorothy Thompson and author Margaret Mead.

Newcomers to the list were Marguerite Higgins, foreign correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune; actress Helen Hayes, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Sister Kenney, Helen Keller and physicist Florence Rena Sabin.

More People Visit Museum Than Go to Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK—Nearly 2,500,000 people visited the American Museum of Natural History and the Hyden planetarium during 1950 The annual report of the museum pointed out that was more people than went to Yankee stadium.

"The museum attendance figure for the past year," the report said, "far exceeds that of Yankee stadium and almost equals the combined attendance for the full year of 1949 at the Belmont Park, Jamaica, and Aqueduct race tracks."

Graduation

Commencement exercises for the Umbarger school were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the auditorium. Seniors who received diplomas were Annie Koch, Sadie Higgins and Anna Hoffman. They also received typing certificates.

SHOWER HONORS SUE COLWELL BRIDE-ELECT OF BILL DAVIS

The Clyde Warwick home was the scene of a bridal shower complimenting Miss Sue Ann Colwell, bride-elect of Bill Davis, on Friday afternoon, May 18. Hostesses were Mesdames J. J. Walker, O. W. Parker Jr., Carl V. Wimberly, Burney Slack, L. L. Byars, H. T. Wilshire of Plainview, A. C. Haley Jr. and Clyde Warwick.

In the receiving line were the honoree, Mrs. W. B. Colwell, her mother, and Mrs. Roscoe Davis, mother of the groom-elect. Misses Karen Sue Parker, Beverly Colwell, and Mary Patricia Haley secured names at the guest book.

The bride's colors of orchid and white were carried out in the dining room where the serving table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of gladioli.

CANYON H. D. CLUB STUDIES PATTERNS, PLAID MATERIAL

The Canyon Home Demonstration Club met in regular session on Friday, May 18, in the home of Mrs. C. J. Hughes. Mrs. Marion Higdon directed a scrambled word contest. After roll call Mrs. Luke Miller gave a council report.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson showed slide pictures and gave a demonstration on how to cut dress patterns on plaid material.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames E. S. Shero, Harry Garrison, Loyd Childers, J. A. Edwards, Henry Wiggins, Marion Higdon, Luke Miller, Bill Money, Johnnie McBroom, C. F. Rogers, Douglas Loudder, Miss Patterson and the hostess.

The next meeting will be on June 1 in the home of Mrs. J. A. Edwards.

MYSTERY WOMAN DIES

Chicago — When a factory worker, known as Miss Marie Ames, dropped dead recently in the shop where she worked as a candy wrapper, investigators learned she really was Miss Marie O. Andresen, 61-year-old spinster lawyer and one-time brilliant assistant in the State's attorney's office. She lived alone in a huge seventeen-room dilapidated residence since her mother died 1944. The house lacked heat, water and electricity.

FISHERY CATCH

The total catch of fishery products in the United States and Alaska was 4,900,000,000 pounds, only slightly greater than in 1949, but the value to the fishermen, however, was $365,000,000, or twelve per cent higher than the year before and almost at the record 1948 peak. San Pedro, Calif., remained the leading fishing port, followed in order by Gloucester, Mass., and San Diego, Calif.

JOBLESS PAYMENTS

The Labor Department reports that the state jobless insurance systems paid out $1,400,000,000 to idle workers in 1950, which was $400,000,000 less than in 1949. The number of workers receiving unemployed insurance payments also dropped from 7,400,000 in 1949 to 5,200,000 in 1950.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

The number of workers covered by state unemployment insurance laws set a new record in 1950, reaching a total of 34,800,000 in December and wages amounted to an all-time peak of about $100,000,000,000.

SHOWER COMPLIMENTS BRIDE-ELECT JUNE JENNINGS

On Monday afternoon, May 10, the Roy Byrd Jr. home was the scene of a miscellaneous bridal shower complimenting Miss June Jennings, bride-elect of Billy Cleavinger. Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Roy Byrd Sr., Joe Byrd, Walter Graham, M. B. Brown, George Edmonds, Earl Burtz, R. A. Hodges, Albert Meyer, Erwin Meyer, L. S. Johnston, C. O. Elkins, and Roy Byrd Jr.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Byrd Jr., Mrs. John Jennings, mother of the honoree, the honoree, and Mrs. E. R. Cleavinger, mother of the groom-elect. Miss Jennings wore a shoulder corsage of vanda orchids, a gift of the hostesses. Misses Joyce Evans and Dorothy McCaslin secured names at the guest book. Orchid and purple iris decorated the entertaining rooms.

Laid with a hand-drawn linen cloth, the serving table was centered with an arrangement of deep purple and orchid sweet peas. The orchid mints were a miniature wedding slipper trimmed in white. During the afternoon Misses Tommy Mathews and Caulene Key and Mesdames George Grogan, W. E. Miller, James Jennings, and Cas Jennings, aunts of the honoree, presided at the serving table.

Musical entertainment during the afternoon was furnished by Misses Marion Miller and Donna Erwin, at the piano, and Mrs. Glen Dowlen and Miss Betty Graham, who sang.

Approximately 175 guests called and sent gifts.

LEONARD WINTERS HOME IS SCENE OF FAMILY REUNION

On Sunday evening, May 13, a family reunion was held in the Leonard Winters home.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Mohs, Mrs. Walt Kunzman of Capron, Okla., Dr. and Mrs. Edward Quast, Mrs. Clara Frieze of Alva, Okla., Art Wilhite of Hartner, Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Winter and Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Winters, Richard and Fred, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Winters, Charline and Bob, Mrs. Hannah Winters, Herman Findley and Burton Frieze, all of Amarillo.

JEAN PITT IS HONOREE AT BRIDAL SHOWER THURSDAY

Miss Jean Pitt, bride-elect of Clarence Maynard, was honoree at a bridal shower in the T. S. Stevenson home on Thursday afternoon, May 17. Hostesses with Mrs. Stevenson were Mesdames W. R. Crow, Florence Stephenson, A. B. Berry, Noah Amason, and Lon Fanning.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. P. L. Pitt, the honoree, and Mrs. D. J. Maynard. Mrs. Merle Pitt secured names at the guest book.

The bride's colors of green and yellow were carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Laid with a lace cloth, the serving table was centered with an arrangement of gold dutch iris with varigated ivy leaves and tufts of light green nylon net. Yellow tapers were held in crystal holders. Table appointments were of crystal. Mrs. Cloys Knox and Miss Wilda Pitt, sisters of the honoree, poured.

Approximately 75 guests called.

PARKER-JOYNER ENTERTAIN BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB

Mrs. W. E. Parker and Mrs. C. L. Joyner were hostesses when the Business Womens Club met in the Parker home on Wednesday evening, May 16. A dessert plate and coffee were served following the evening of bridge. Mrs. K. E. Frieze won the high score prize and Miss Lou Ella Patterson the low score prize.

Guests of the evening were Mesdames W. A. Moore, S. B. Loudder, C. M. Presley, and Hosea Foster. Members present were Dr. Leta Boswell, Mesdames Hud Prichard, R. E. Ball, K. E. Frieze, O. W. Reader Takes Congressman to Task For Support "Fair-Dealer" Patman

Amarillo, Texas, May 15, 1951
The Editor, The Canyon News
Dear Sir:

The May 3rd issue of the Congressional Record carries a speech by Representative Hoffman of Michigan. In that speech he outlines the situation of one Dr. Rumely, executive secretary of the Committee for Constitutional Government. If Rep. Hoffman is correct, Dr. Rumely has been convicted unjustly by a District of Columbia court of contempt of Congress because he refused to give the House Committee on Lobbying the names of individuals who contributed to his activities.

I do not know all the details of this case but I submit that one of Dr. Rumely's projects was promoting the sale of John Flynn's book, The Road Ahead. This is not lobbying and Dr. Rumely's refusal to say who ordered this book from him in large quantities was justified because that is no business of the House Committee on Lobbying.

I am struck by the curious fact that Congressman Rogers and Congressman Patman of Texas, among others, never fail, in talking about Rumely, to mention that he was convicted after World War I for violating the "Trading with the Enemy" act. They fail to mention that his conviction was later studied by Harlan Fisk Stone, then Attorney General and later Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, and that President Coolidge issued an unconditional pardon based on Stone's recommendation.

I am also compelled to point out that Rogers and Patman never seem to be able to mention Rumely without talking also about one Wm. Patterson whom they describe as a communist leader. As nearly as I can determine, Rumely and Patterson are connected in no way. It appears, therefore, that the joining of their names is a deliberate attempt to prejudice the position of Rumely.

There is reason to believe that Rumely is not the villain some would have us believe. It grieves me to see our Congressman following the lead of "Fair-Dealer" Wright Patman in an attempt to muzzle a critic of the Administration. I suggest that it would be well for us to know what the Committee for Constitutional Government has actually been doing before we condemn its executive secretary. I suggest further that it would be well for us to know whether or not the House Committee on Lobbying is misusing its powers by investigating things other than lobbying. The day might come when you and I would be investigated for saying that all is not well with America under the present Administration.

Very truly yours,
C. O. Towne

Work Congress and Legislature Tax Is Reviewed

REDISTRICTING (Congressional) — Hopes for congressional redistricting at this session of the Legislature were dashed Monday morning when a Senate committee on the subject sent a House bill to a subcommittee for an indefinite period, and legislators figured that without an unusually extended session the subject is dead. The committee action was taken on a vote of 8-1, the lone dissenter being Senator Bracewell of Houston. Bracewell, sensing committee opposition to that bill, sought to substitute for it a bill which would give Harris County the extra congressman gained in the 1950 census and leave all present districts as they are. He said that would "cure the greatest injustice," explaining that Harris County, with more than 800,000 population is the largest district in the country. Bracewell said that from the practical standpoint it was a matter of giving Harris County the extra one or electing a congressman at large. The committee action indicated the new congressman will be elected at large.

PRICE FIXING — The House bill to permit the Railroad Commission to set minimum prices for natural gas to prevent waste was approved late Thursday by a Senate committee, 9-6. The Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of state price-setting laws in Oklahoma and Kansas, therefore this legislation will likely stand up in court, if adopted. It has been estimated that the contemplated rise in the price of natural gas at the wellhead would cost the average consumer from 85c to $3.80 per year.

INCOME TAX — The Treasury Department, which has always taken a dim view of the special income tax benefits derived from the community property law, is trying again to nullify them. It sought for quite a while to abolish these benefits by legislation, but was unsuccessful, because congressmen realized that the facts justified the benefits. Then a law was passed giving married people in all states the same rights as those in the community property states, and the community property states lost the special advantage which they had enjoyed. More recently the Treasury Department has been seeking legislation, which, while it would not take away the right to make separate returns, would virtually destroy the benefits of that procedure. If this legislation passes, the benefits of the community property law would be nullified in effect. The House ways and means committee has voted unfavorably on the law sought by the Treasury Department, and there is little likelihood of any legislation on the subject by this session of congress.

President Truman signed a bill permitting gasoline users to deduct for income tax purposes state taxes on gasoline imposed on the wholesaler and passed on to the consumer.

MEDICINE — The idea of state loans to aid needy medical students in their education has made some headway in the Texas Legislature. The House has approved and sent to the Senate a proposed constitutional amendment which would create such a loan plan, setting up a board which would lend up to $5,000 to applicants it considers good prospects to become doctors. The objective of the proposal is highly meritorious. It is to help relieve the shortage of country doctors in Texas by offering medical school graduates inducements under the loan plan to practice in rural areas. For each year of such rural service, $1,000 of the loan would be cancelled, so that five years of service in a rural community would wipe out the student's debt to the state. There is urgent need for more doctors in the rural areas and an urgent need for some practical plan for drawing them there. But aside from the objection of "socialism" raised against the pending amendment, there is considerable question whether it would achieve its intended purpose. Numerous factors are involved in the reluctance of young doctors to practice in rural communities, but one of the most important is the apparent feeling of medical school graduates that their greatest financial opportunity lies in the populous cities. The question is whether the proposed loan plan will offer a sufficient offset to this, or whether the medical student will feel that it is to his advantage to establish a remunerative practice in the city and pay back his loan to the state, rather than to spend five years in rural practice before seeking this goal. If the constitutional amendment embodying the plan is approved by the Legislature, it will be the people of Texas who finally decide whether it is to be adopted. But in any plan submitted, there should be careful safeguards against the possibility that politics and favoritism could enter into the operation of the proposed loan fund and the selection of students to be benefited by it.

Perhaps the best idea concerning this matter would be for the medical profession to solve its own problem, eliminating the necessity of any state legislation. The medical profession has made great strides in the direction of supplying more doctors in the past few years, and with still more effort directed in this direction it can solve the problem of the rural doctor.

TIDELANDS — Hearings are scheduled to begin Thursday before the House judiciary sub-committee on the Celler bill to give the Federal Government temporary control of the tidelands. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls predicts that the sub-committee will throw out the Celler bill and substitute the Walter measure restoring ownership to the states. It will depend in considerable degree on just how hard the opponents of the Celler bill fight. The spotlight will be on Congressmen from Texas. The issue behind the issue in the tidelands fight is just as important to Wyoming as it is to Texas. The grounds on which the Supreme Court ruled for the Federal Government, if allowed to stand as a precedent, will be a long step toward nationalization of our resources and the extension of Federal power. It will be a long step in the fine art of twisting the wording of the Federal Constitution to any ends sought by the government. Texas, Louisiana, and California have the greatest immediate, tangible interest. If they do not lead in the fight, they cannot expect much following.

PUBLIC WELFARE — A Senate minority attacked Texas' public welfare system Thursday, but the majority voted to make it more liberal. By a 30-1 vote, the Senate suspended rules advancing the constitutional amendment toward final adoption. But a disagreement on wording of the proposed ballot delayed the showdown vote. As pushed to final reading, the proposal would boost from $35,000,000 to $42,000,000 the state's limit on spending for old-age pensions, dependent children and needy blind. It would let the state pay up to $30 a month to an aged person, plus $30 federal money. Now the maximum is $50 a month — $20 state, $30 federal. The Senate knocked out committee proposals to let the state hold a mortgage on pensioners' property and to investigate children's ability to support parents before putting them on state relief. It also rejected the effort of Rogers Kelley of Edinburg to let aliens get state aid, if they had lived in Texas 15 years and had a blood relative in the armed forces. The House favors removing the limit on spending, and included aliens.

LABOR — Both labor unions and employers would be put under provisions of the anti-trust laws for conspiracy, if they denied a person the right to work, under a Senate bill passed Thursday by the House. The House passed the bill 88-42. It climaxed one of the bitterest fights of the session. Penalties for violation of the act, as now constituted, would be fines ranging from $50 to $1500 a day. Originally, the bill carried criminal penalties for violation up to ten years in prison. This was the provision which caused so much controversy and it has been stricken from the bill.

TAXATION — The gap between state spending and taxes was reported $3,000,000 wider Friday. Senator Weinert of Seguin said that a recently passed bill requiring that amount of revenue had not been considered in the comptroller's latest estimate. The increase, he said, came with the Legislature's final passage of a bill crediting teachers with service in other states with one half of such service under the teachers retirement system.

The committee was still at work Friday seeking a compromise solution to raise more than $60,000,000 in necessary taxes.

JOHNSON'S MEN'S WEAR

Statehouse
by HUGH WILLIAMSON

A number of newspapers have stated editorially that, now the Texas truck load limit has been increased, motor transport people should police their own industry to reduce overloading.

Governor Allan Shivers made this statement when he signed Senate Bill 57, which increased the load limit:

"It is hoped that this legislation will assist the trucking industry of Texas to step up its contribution to the national defense and the economy of Texas. I feel that it also carries with it the responsibility for the trucking industry to initiate an aggressive self-policing campaign in order that this more liberal weight law shall be strictly adhered to.

"Texas has millions of dollars invested in its highway system. Under the provisions of Senate Bill 57, which follows the American Association of Highway Officials' code, this excellent system of highways can be preserved so long as the operators of motor trucks in Texas conform to axle and gross load requirements set out in this act.

"I feel confident that the trucking industry will accept this responsibility and take whatever steps are required to assure its accomplishment."

Texas Motor Transportation Association, which sponsored the new law, held its annual convention in San Antonio this month, and prominent members underlined the necessity of strict observance. Among the speakers who scored the practice of overloading were Mike Duke of Houston, outgoing president of the association, and Henry English of Dallas, a truck operator and also an official in the Defense Transport Administration.

As a result of this sentiment among the truck operators, the association officially adopted a program which calls for strict law compliance. A committee was appointed by the new president, R. C. Delavan of San Antonio, to work out details of the program, which is to apply to non-members as well as members of the truckers' organization.

James E. Taylor of Austin, executive director of the association, had recommended these three things to members:

1. Don't overload. Establish a plan to check loads and make spot checks to insure that loading is proper.
2. Train your drivers. Organize company schools, train at least one driver-trainer, and examine your hiring procedure.
3. Institute a safety-courtesy program, including an "I'll help you pass" campaign and measures against tailgating (one vehicle too close behind another). Emphasize highway courtesy.

These are signs that may be interpreted to mean that the trucking industry is growing up. A comparatively new industry, its members were known, in the old days, as a pretty rough crowd. But motor transportation is now a vital part of the nation's economic picture — and it is big business, too.

And truck operators apparently now recognize that it is their duty to keep their house clean and be responsible members of society.

Congratulations on the fine score you've made in school, graduates-

LOVE,

It's just times like annual signing that we get to tell you wonderful senior guys and gals how really swell you are. But, now, midst excitement and confusion, it is hard to remember just what you feel like saying, and all that comes out is a weak "congratulations" or "good luck."

We mean much more. To each of you in cap and gown goes our love and farewells, mingled with a tear or two. For you have grown up and are leaving CHS behind. This happy year will soon become just a misty memory.

In parting each of you takes a little from us — good times, yes, but maybe more. We hope that perhaps there was something one of us said or did that enriched life more.

Seniors come and seniors go, but this time it is different, for you will never be forgotten. To the "Fish" the '51 seniors were a bunch to be worshipped and so they were. Sophs' knew you better and admired you even more. But for the juniors, good-by is harder to say, for closer buddies never were, and next year, this class must try to fill your place.

So now farewell and the very best of luck.

Love,
CHS

MAKE THAT GOAL!

Have you, as a student of C. H. S., set a goal for the 1951-52 school year? Have you decided definitely what you want to accomplish?

School life can be very unexciting if you have made no definite plan as to your study routine. A carefully planned well-rounded schedule will produce an eventual and pleasant year; but if at term's end you find yourself with no sense of achievement and satisfaction you must realize that you have been at fault and must improve.

Another phase of education to be noted is the extra-curricular opportunities offered to the student. The person who is not alert enough to take advantage of what is presented to him will behave in the same manner throughout his career.

However, it should be made clear that the individual should not acquire too many extra duties; this will lead to extreme neglect of required work.

So turn over a new leaf as you enter school next fall and avail yourself of all that is offered you; you'll be glad later that you did!

We Played While They Worked

For every class activity they were ready to help. They were willing to chaperone the seniors on their senior trip. Who are they? The room parents, of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ruthart, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gooch, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Money, and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Lair were ready to sponsor our Christmas party, swimming party, and senior trip. All the room mothers with the exception of Mrs. Mark Foster went on the trip.

The Senior Class expresses its appreciation to you all. You did everything you could to help make our last year a happy one.

A Graduate's Advice To The 1952 Seniors

Here's one graduate's advice to the up and coming seniors of '52.

First of all, always make like a race horse when the assembly bell rings so that you may get a front seat.

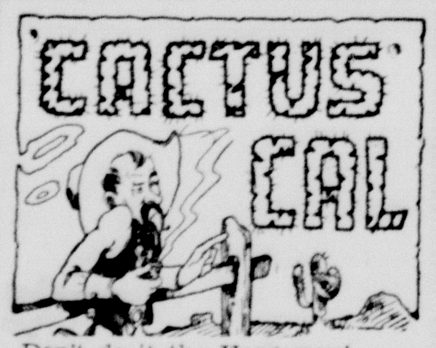
Never agree with the teachers. Always make them give in to you, for look who is the smartest.

Do not pay your class dues and do not contribute anything to the fund raising campaigns. Enjoy yourself at another person's expense.

On the senior trip make yourself as unpleasant as possible. Stay out after the deadline and do not tell anyone where you have gone. Just let the room-mothers and sponsors stew in their own juice.

Just follow this procedure and be certain that you will not have a good time or be popular among the others.

Omar N. Bradley, head of Joint Chiefs of Staff: "If at all possible, Korea should be settled on the present battle ground."



Don't do it the Hardaway!

After eating eggs well salted and Peppard, Moe and Les Lernin fell into a Pond on the way to school.

At breakfast while Les was Duncan doughnuts, the close Schaeffer, Moe, counted his Money." What a Payne! I'm always Owens somebody," mourned Moe.

"Didgin again, eh?" piped in Les.

"Don't Crow so loudly, you little Begert," said Moe. "What in the Dooley are you doin' here, anyway?"

"I've had Morton enough," replied Les. "I'm Busteed, Gibson some of that Bond money to me."

"Wait," cried Moe. "I heard a Russell. It sounded like someone tripping over a Root or Sloan."

"Oh, that's a bunch of Bullard!"

"No, wait! It's a Fisher," pleaded Moe. "He's wearing a Rusk-y identification Chain and his arms are covered with Phelps. He's 'Clemed' up that Hill to catch that 'Dot-ted' 'MacAdoo' Sla-gul. He first looked in the Hutchin-saw the rabbits."

"Goochie-goochie-goo,
A Miller flew . . .," taunted Les.

"Are you trying to make a Lair out of me? Butler, answer the door."

"I'm not Wooten to," mumbled Miller, the Butler. "Mobley she'll go away. I don't want to Bynum."

"She's not a saleslady," exclaimed Moe. "That's my Foster girlfriend. I'd give anything to Carter home because she has a Ruthart."

"(Whew! The look she gave me would make a Waldrop. I'd Prater be anywhere than here while she's around.) By the way, Miss, Williams grow in this country? My Brandt, I mean. (My, that face would make a dog Howell. She can't Gressett up!)"

Poor Miller, he just about got Thomp-ed in the floor, or Prichard outside.

"May-nard I get to see Moe and Les?" she screamed!

"Yes, yes, Madam," said Miller, "Cummings with me!"

Honor Award To Eagle's Tale

"In recognition of the excellence which has placed it among the best high school papers of the year in Texas" the Eagle's Tale has received from the Interscholastic League the Award of Honor in journalism.

These presentations are made to high-ranking papers on the basis of make-up, editing, writing, and coverage. Points subordinate to these are truthfulness, completeness, clearness, accuracy, brevity, and conciseness.

A new system of judging school papers includes four divisions: Award of Honor, which the Eagle's Tale received, for outstanding publications of only slightly less general excellence; and two lesser certifications of merit.

Thrills Come Throughout Year

In retrospection of the 1950-51 school year, the seniors can think of many happy hours spent together in various class activities.

Helping put over the Sadie Hawkin's program was a thrill to everyone who participated. It afforded some laughs to the student body, too. Not to be forgotten are the first class party, the Christmas party, and the swimming party. Every senior was co-operative and enjoyed clean, wholesome fun.

One of the memories which will be treasured most throughout the years is the Junior-Senior Banquet. The Junior Class could not have provided more enjoyment for the Senior Class. Seeing Colorado Springs and Denver was a nice trip to help close out the year.

Graduation for every senior will put an end to their high school life. Some will go to colleges, some to their chosen vocations. As the seniors look back and see these things, they can remember just how fine it felt to be a senior in C. H. S.

Sponsors, Schultz, Simms Send Seniors Sincere Salute

To the Seniors of 1951:

The greatest pleasure and honor I have had the past two years in Canyon High has been to be your class sponsor. In this capacity I have come to know each of you as good friends. I know you are a great class by the way you have all cooperated in every task we have undertaken.

My only hope is that in this past two years of our close association that I may have helped each of you in some little way.

May the years ahead be fruitful for each of you and thanks a million for taking me along on your senior trip.

Your sponsor,
Ray Schultz

Besides being sponsor of the senior class, Mr. Schultz devotes half his day to teaching and the other half to business activities in the superintendent's office.

"Schultzie" came to Canyon High in 1948. Since then he has been assistant senior sponsor in '48-'49, junior sponsor in '49-'50, and senior sponsor in '50-'51.

Long tedious hours spent on the play, "Mother Is a Freshman," making plans best for the class, and taking care of the financial side of matters are only a few of the noteworthy things Mr. Schultz has done for the class of 1951 seniors. Yet outshining all other things, Mr. Schultz has been a true friend and advisor to each member of the class.

Seniors of 1950-51:

It is a privilege to have been a part of the senior class organization during the current school year. Being a teacher and having the opportunity to associate with students is a blessing; being a sponsor whereby closer relationship is attained is a greater blessing. For members of the class my sincere wishes are that each develops love, understanding, and consideration for his fellowman, a desire to do right, a fervidness for success, and the ability to find joy and beauty in little things. My love and best wishes go with you on the morrow's road.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Cecil Simms

Mrs. Cecil Simms came to CHS in February of 1943 to teach English and junior high math. Today she is head of the English department and teaching senior high English. Mrs. Simms sponsored the graduating seniors when they were mere eighth graders.

Mrs. Simms won the heart of every senior by having the ability to create an understanding among the entire class. A fine co-worker to Mr. Schultz, Mrs. Simms helped in every activity of the class. The class play, the parties, the class meetings, the senior trip, and the bake sales are only a few of the many things she helped the class to do. Truly an understanding and wonderful friend to each senior is Mrs. Cecil Simms.

Seniors Rollick Thru Colorado

Would you like to get a glimpse of someone's personal dairy, perhaps a senior's? Come along, I have the key, and we will look at mine together. Its span is not long, only five days to be exact, but I want you to read it and get enjoyment from it, just as I did from its subject matter.

Wednesday, May 9, 12:05 a. m.: The seniors, fifty-nine of us including sponsors and room-mothers, gathered at the school to wait for two chartered buses to whisk us off for a thrilling five day trip to Colorado Springs and Denver, Colorado. We traveled Wednesday morning until we reached Canon City where we went through the Colorado State Prison. From there we went to the Royal Gorge. This afternoon we went to Colorado Springs and got our cabins where we were to stay for two nights. This evening we went ice-skating.

Thursday, May 10: Up at 7:30 and off to see the Seven Falls. After we climbed all 290 steps to the top, we decided (with trembling knees) that it was just as beautiful from the bottom. After this came swimming at the Broadmoor Hotel. Then we went through the zoo and left for the Cave of the Winds. Most of us were amazed at the size of it. Tonight we went roller skating.

Friday, May 11: We visited the pottery plant before leaving for Denver. Fifteen students toured the U. S. Mint upon our arrival while the rest shopped or just rested for the night at Lake-Side Amusement Park. Here most of us got our first roller-coaster rides.

Saturday, May 12: Some of us went over the Capitol grounds and to Colorado State Museum while others shopped in the Mile High City. This afternoon we went through the Museum of Natural History and another zoo. Tonight, one group went to the show, another to the amusement park, and another skating.

Sunday, May 13, 5:30 a. m.: Every one was awakened in order to eat breakfast and get an early start for home.

7:30 a. m.: Left Denver.

9:05 p. m.: Reached Canyon — good to be home!!

'52 Cheerleaders Are Announced

Yelling their lungs out for ole CHS next year will be six newly elected cheerleaders. In a hot session at the high school gym May 14, Barbara Beck, Peggy Bonds, Florence Coffee, Sarah Colwell, Bette McGehee, and Anna Lou Samuelson won the honor leading "Yea Purple" and "We Got the T." They, with the other entries, demonstrated their skill before the student body.

Barbara, Florence, and Bette will be '52 graduates, having had experience as cheerleaders their junior year. Peggy and Sarah are sophs and Anna Lou is a junior.

Farewell Given Friends, Teachers

'Midst smiles, 'midst tears, the senior class of 1951 presented their farewell assembly to the student body, Monday, May 21.

The senior's gift to the school, a rose beige divan with matching chair and an end table, was presented to Supt. Wooten by Richmond Payne, the class president.

The program began with Barbara McDougal reading the class history. It seems that this was a very restless class, as several of the members just could not stay put. However, most of the wandering ones came back to enjoy the last few years of schooling with their old classmates, and they got together to make one of the largest graduating classes yet! Fifty-four boys and girls, pardon me, young men and women compose this group.

The last will and testimony of the class was given by Merle Bullard, to whom it concerned, and we, the seniors of nineteen hundred and fifty-one, having sound minds, draftable bodies, and "Joe" Crow, willed our proudest possessions to the up and coming seniors of Canyon High School.

From the crystal ball came the class prophesy which was given by Teddy Howell. The seniors shown ten years hence were realizing their various ambitions, and those with no ambition were just shown.

This assembly marked our farewell to our old friends and teachers whom we love, but it is the beginning of a new life in which we will test the knowledge we have gained at CHS. So, good-bye again, and do not forget this class of '51.

To Our Editors, Thanks A Million

Hats off to the two swellest editors a paper staff could ever have! To "Babs" McDougal and Claude Money, Eagle's Tale Editors, your staff pays tribute, more than just tribute.

Each one of us says "thanks" for the many hours you have spent making the dummy, editing copy, and getting the paper to bed. It has been a tiring job, putting out this paper. But whenever the staff felt discouraged and was about to call it quits, there you were, "Babs," with just the right encouragement. If the deadline was not met and extra time must be put in, Claude was first to volunteer.

It takes a capable, industrious editorial staff to make a paper click, a couple of editors who have the respect and admiration of fellow workers. You won ours from the very start, and that is why we say THANKS, BARBARA McDOUGAL AND CLAUDE MONEY.

TARGET AREAS

Civil Defense Administrator Millard Caldwell describes as "critical target areas" Washington, Baltimore, Richmond, Atlanta, Birmingham and St. Louis. He referred to Chicago, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, St. Paul and Los Angeles as other likely objectives of enemy attack.

CHS Fight Song Selected May 21

For the first time in its history, Canyon High School has a fight song. Selection was made by eliminative vote in assemblies May 17 and 21.

"Eagles' Fight Song"

Eagles, Eagles, fight, fight, fight,
We're gonna win this game today.
Come on and charge that line with all your might,
And show the world the fighting Eagles' way.
Eagles, Eagles, go, go, go,
For you're the best, that's plain to see.
So Eagles fight, fight, fight,
So Eagles go, go, go,
And Canyon High will win the victory.

Five songs were submitted to the student body. The one chosen, "Eagles' Fight Song," was composed by Houston Bright, instructor of music, West Texas State College, Canyon.

Mr. Bright has composed and published a number of other songs of national note. One of his specialities is choral arrangements.

Aiding in presenting the songs, submitted from all over the United States, were Dr. William Presser of West Texas State College, head of the music department, and Mrs. Herman Demus, pianist.

Thurston Speaks To CHS Seniors

"What is in thy hand?," the theme of the Canyon High School Commencement Sermon was presented to the graduating class by Rev. Herschel Thurston, pastor of the Canyon Methodist Church, in the Administration Building auditorium of West Texas State College, Sunday, May 20, 1951.

Rev. Thurston enlarged on the fact that each person holds in his hand great power, especially the graduating seniors, because in this hour of turmoil, they can either make or break civilization. He ended his sermon with a quotation from "The Gate of the Year" by M. Louise Haskins:

"So I went forth, and finding the hand of God, trod gladly into the night.
And He led me toward the hills, and the breaking of day in the lone East."

Guest pastors were Rev. T. Winston Wilbanks, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon, Dr. Roy L. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Canyon, Rev. W. J. Phelps, pastor of the Assembly of God Church of Canyon, and Rev. Herschel Thurston, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Canyon.

Special music was presented by the high school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Herman Demus, and the high school choir, under the direction of Mrs. Laverne Sifert.

Final commencement exercises will be held at 8 o'clock, Thursday evening, May 24, in the WTSC main auditorium. A reception for the graduating seniors will be held in the high school cafeteria immediately following the exercises, Supt. E. A. Wooten announced.

Awards Climax Year's Work

Highlighting the all-award assembly held Friday, May 18, was the preliminary selection of a CHS fight song. Dr. Presser, head of the music department at WTSC, accompanied by Mrs. Herman Demus, sang the top five entries. The final selection will be made Monday, May 21.

Initial presentation of awards was made by Bettie Graham who presented Junior Homemaker Degrees to the following: Billie Graham, Doris Bourn, Louise Hunter, Evelyn Costly, Mary Bauer, Ruby Brown, Edwina Caskey. Chapter Homemaking Degrees were presented by FHA president Joyce Payne to Geneva Gressett and Betty Graham.

Announcing winners of Spanish essay awards, Miss Alice Payne recognized Anna Lou Samuelson and Virginia Rigsby. Florence Coffee and Richard Sanders were presented journalism awards and Merle Bullard the journalism special service award. Miss Payne also recognized the Eagle's Tale staff.

Band metals were awarded to Jim Reynolds, Ralph Green, Gene Miller, J. T. Maddux, Jo Ann Mickey, Marshall Jones, Annelle Pond and Dorothy McReynolds. Certificate winners were recognized by Mr. Herman Demus.

Mrs. Nora E. Gilmore recognized annual staff members and awarded Betty McGehee and Linda Dooley with the first 1950-51 annuals.

Neblett To Jr. Red Cross Camp

"I was so happy because I'd always wanted to go," quoted Dorothy Neblett when asked how she felt about getting to attend a ten day Junior Red Cross summer camp at Marrilton, Arkansas, as a representative of the local council. The camp will be held from June 10 through June 20 for the purpose of studying what the clubs should be doing.

Dorothy was an active member both last year and also this, and enjoys her membership in the organization very much.

"No your honor," replied O'Malley. "She won this time."

American National Bank of Amarillo Boon To Area

One of the largest banks in the Panhandle, The American National Bank of Amarillo, faithfully serves this territory and has become one of the most widely and favorably known financial institutions of the Southwest. They serve the public with a complete banking service and have a reputation for being a conservative and reliable institution with all deposits guaranteed by the FDIC up to $10,000.00. Their resources are over $16,000,000.00.

Since this bank's inception it has grown and developed as the community itself has prospered. By its adequate banking facilities it is playing an important part in the growth and development of the Panhandle.

Here you will find every banking facility. Their savings department is one of the most patronized services offered. They have been the mainstay for many ranchers, businesses and individuals as they are vitally interested in the progress of the agricultural and business life of our people.

All officers and directors are local citizens and are of faultless character and good judgment. Through their efforts and knowledge of banking this institution has gained its prominent position as a leader in banking circles of the Southwest.

This outstanding financial institution is always glad to cooperate with every worthwhile movement that will benefit the Panhandle and our rich trade territory and we are glad to publicly congratulate The American National Bank of Amarillo and J. H. Paul, president; Townsend Douglas, executive vice president; E. L. Cowart, vice president; C. R. Brock, cashier, Derrell Henry and Frank A. Paul, Jr., assistant vice presidents; Dorothy Wagerle and J. C. Sellars, assistant cashiers, on their splendid record of service to our people and to wish for them continued success in the years ahead.

Deh Mc Mfg. Co. Insulation Experts

Each year home owners as well as business concerns are learning of the added comforts both summer and winter and also the economy to be had in insulating their buildings.

DEH Mc MFG. CO. INC., 3319 W. 6th street in Amarillo has been responsible for many of the insulation installations in this area. The materials they use — INSUL-WOOL has not only passed every laboratory test but has been installed in hundreds of buildings in the Panhandle. It is resistant to fire, mice, termites, roaches and prevents sweating of walls. It makes the structure warm in winter and cool in summer and reduces fuel costs so it really pays for itself in from 3 to 5 years. INSUL-WOOL is backed by an iron-clad guarantee bond for the life of the structure. It may be financed with as little as ten per cent down and thirty months to pay under F. H. A. financing plan.

We suggest to our readers that they consult with this popular concern and without obligation on your part, get complete information and estimates. You will find them most friendly and they will gladly refer you to many satisfied customers who are loud in their praise of the good insulation service that they render.

In addition to INSUL-WOOL, Deh Mc Mfg. Co. also handles white metal picket fence and chain link fence, window awnings, CLEAR VIEW outside blinds — the coolest awning under the sun, inside venetian blinds in any color and clothes line posts. They are always glad to have you drop in and get full details on these popular products.

We compliment both Chief Milford and Bud Emanuel who own and operate Deh Mc Mfg. Co., Inc. on their good record and wish them every success in the future.

So Well Remembered

Poison Ivy Menace Continues in All Section of State

Poison ivy infection varies according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Sometimes there is only a slight redness of the skin, at other times there will be aggravated swelling and blisters covering large areas of your skin. In mild cases the skin is covered with numerous small blisters.

Poison ivy flourishes in the woods or in the open, in dry or moist locations, and it is particularly abundant along fence rows, paths, and roadways, often climbing posts and trees to considerable heights. While there are a great many plants which may irritate the skin of susceptible persons, most of the cases of plant dermatitis in Texas are caused by poison ivy.

It is impossible for the average person to learn to recognize all the plants which are known to be skin irritants but, many cases of plant poisoning could be prevented if the public would learn to recognize and avoid contact with poison ivy.

Dr. Cox gives these points to remember about poison ivy: (1) You can recognize it by its leaves, which are grouped in threes . . . two of the dark green leaves are on short stems and the center one is on a longer stem; (2) The plant appears as a low shrub, a vine hanging over fences or trees, or in a heavy thicket; (3) When you have come into contact with poison ivy, be sure to wash the spots with soap and water several times, as the soapy water removes most of the poisonous material; and (4) If the infection causes much discomfort, see your family doctor.

C. S. Lambie & Co. Leaders in Field

Substantial contributors to the progress of this area the general contracting firm, C. S. Lambie & Co. with offices in the Amarillo Building in that metropolitan city, who have established a well deserved reputation for their outstanding record in the construction of commercial, industrial and public buildings.

C. S. Lambie and his associates, J. C. Paul, M. W. Hamilton and Allen Ritter are men who have given much toward the development of the Panhandle and have turned their personal success in the construction and business field to the advantage of the people as a whole. They have accomplished much toward making the area a better place in which to live and they hold a commanding position among their neighbors, friends and business associates.

In the pursuit of the construction business the Lambie organization has always been known to use only the very highest quality materials and their construction crews are staffed only by experienced and highly skilled craftsmen. Their services are sought by interests throughout the states of Texas and Oklahoma because they have a reputation for rendering the same sound construction service whether the contract be on a cost plus or a fixed-fee basis.

We are fortunate in having citizens of the calibre of C. S. Lambie and those associated with him in our community and we take this opportunity in this review edition of the paper to wish for them continued success in the construction field.

EXPLANATION

Nine times out of ten, the reason man can't find a way out of a difficulty is that he's looking for an easy way out.

WHERE SHE IS

Dumb People Better Drivers, Teacher Reports

WASHINGTON—Richard Talbott, who operates a concern called the University Driving Laboratory in nearby Hyattsville, Md., says generally speaking, people with so-so intelligence make better automobile drivers than the smart folks.

That's a controversial statement, but he should know. Talbott teaches all kinds, from the very dumb to the awful smart, how to drive an automobile.

During the war he instructed other soldiers in the art of piloting a jeep. Since then, operating his own business, he has taught hundreds of civilians how to drive. So far as he knows, only one customer has had a serious accident.

"He was a physicist working with an atomic project. I predicted he would crash and he did. A dumb person is concerned only with getting where he is going—and concentrates on that alone. A intellectual is up in the clouds. This particular person was perhaps dreaming of test tubes, Bunsen Burners, and Geiger counters. He made a wrong turn."

Learned to Drive Young

Talbott, who calls himself a "paid back seat driver", learned to drive at eight years old in an Essex that was too old to move, and took to the road on a test run when he was 10. He had a driver's license when he was fourteen.

The first thing he tells his students—most of them women of middle age—is that the automobile was invented because people are too lazy to walk, "so take it easy."

And Talbott has a kind word for women. "They learn what they are doing faster, but I had better qualify that a little. They are not as skillful as men after they have learned the fundamentals.

Sometimes he runs into problems. Like the woman he was instructing how to signal that she was getting ready to stop.

"Bend your arm down," he commanded.

"But", the woman protested, "my arm won't bend down."

He showed her how to bend an arm down.

There are others who are interested only in learning enough to pass a driver's test.

Simple Road Rules

The expert has a few simple rules which he hopes will rub off on the public, as well as the people who pay him to learn how to drive:

1. Look at the road, not at the guy coming at you or the one you see is about to pass you.

2. Drive your car, not the other fellow's. Don't try to anticipate what he's going to do.

3. Don't switch lanes unless you are positive you can make it. And don't forget that in no car yet built do you have perfect vision fore and aft.

4. Be courteous. Give the other fellow a break.

Boy's Atomic Torpedo Idea 'Interesting,' Navy Says

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Tommy Pearce, 10, a fifth grade pupil in Arlington, Va., called on Rear Adm. A. C. Nobel, chief of the navy's ordnance bureau, recently to explain an idea for attacking the Communists with an atomic torpedo.

The lad took a detailed chart showing how a "button" in the nose of the torpedo would set off an atomic explosion.

"I think that when you find a way of setting off a bomb by endusing electricity into it, that you should make an atomic torpedo," the young designer wrote. "You could use it in attacking enemy shore batteries. I hope you can use this plan."

The admiral told Tommy that his plan was "very interesting" and that he had sent them to navy engineers working on torpedoes and bombs.

"It is quite possible that some of your ideas may already be in use or may be included in new designs," the admiral told Tommy.

Iodized Salt Is Blamed For Slowdown in Midwest

CHICAGO, Ill.—Dr. Charles Sellers of Chicago says the iodine put in salt to prevent goiter may now have swung the pendulum the other way in the Great Lakes region.

For those with goiter, iodized salt has been a boon, he points out. But for those who have had normal thyroid glands, it has been harmful. The extra iodine has caused their thyroids to become sluggish and their body chemical activity to slow down.

Symptoms are sleepiness, increase in weight, awkwardness, and an inability to take cold weather.

Goiter was once a major problem in Great Lakes cities because of the low iodine content in the drinking water. The region was known as the "goiter belt".

In the mid-1940's iodine was added to salt and the cases of goiter diminished over the years. But the iodine apparently works on all thyroids, normal and abnormal.

Dr. Sellers recommends patients with hyprothroidism should use a noniodized salt.

Consider not pleasures as they come, but as they go. —H. G. Bohn.

Youth Completes Dangerous 35-Mile Trip in Iron Lung

LANCASTER, Pa.—Thomas Fassnacht, 17, completed the most dangerous journey of his life—one that could have cost him his life if anything had gone wrong.

The frail boy, so stricken by infantile paralysis that he can live only in an iron lung, was moved 35 miles from Lancaster General Hospital to Harrisburg's Polyclinic Hospital in a moving van using a big iron lung powered by portable power plants. He could not be moved in a portable lung because he would not live more than a few minutes in one.

But every precaution was taken in case the portable power units should fail during the journey.

The Pennsylvania Power & Light Company was called in and they canvassed the route and found a number of poles along the way which linemen could climp to tap main lines for power if the portable units went out.

As a further precaution the light company canvassed the route and estimated how long it would take the moving van and trailer to make the trip. Then they contacted people living at 5-minute intervals and arranged to have extension cords stretched from each of these houses to the side of the highway so that if all else failed, the power lines in the homes could be tapped.

As for getting Thomas from his hospital bed to the truck, the company built master switches and laid a light, flexible cable which connected with the hospital power until Thomas was wheeled into the moving van. Then the power was switched from the hospital to the little power plants.

State police, equipped with walkie-talkies, led the way and doctors and nurses kept Thomas company on the journey.

The boy, by the way, has developed into a backward-reading fellow. In his iron lung he can watch television through a mirror. But the printing is all backward. By now, he reads that as well as he used to read frontward.

Pilot Lands on Carrier Using Left Hand, Knees

Marine Capt. Donald Conroy of Chicago saluted the catapult officer on the carrier Sicily too enthusiastically recently. His arm went out of the cockpit into the propwash of his roaring engine and his shoulder was dislocated.

He managed to manipulate the controls with his left hand and knees and return to the carrier. He fainted from the pain as the plane landed.

India's Princes Form Union To Protect Ancient Rights

BOMBAY, India—India's princes have formed a union. They banded together recently to protect themselves against the Indian government's encroachments against their ancient privileges and dignities.

The princes said the main purpose of their "union" was to win recognition of their traditional rights and privileges and to arrest their deteriorating position. The union of maharajas and newabs (Moslem princes) is reported to number 100.

The princes were reported to be displeased by the fact that "not a single former ruler had been invited to an official function since India became independent, three and one-half years ago."

It was also reported the princes had once considered affiliating themselves with the Indian National Trade Union congress but were advised that they could not be considered a "legitimate working class body."

Navy Works on High-Speed, Long-Diving Submarine

WASHINGTON—The navy reported recently it is working on a new type submarine that would be a "true submarine" in that it could stay submerged indefinitely.

One navy officer said it was "conceivable" that the new underwater craft would do 26 knots submerged and 30 knots on the surface. Existing submarines can do only about 12 to 13 knots submerged.

The officer said the Germans experimented with the new type submarine, and that the British now have developed one and this country is working on one. He also indicated that the high-speed submarine was not too long in the future.

Italians Deluge Policemen With Gifts of Cakes, Wine

ROME, Italy—Tons of cakes and thousands of gallons of wine were stacked in the center of Italy's main metropolitan intersections recently.

The food and drink were gifts from the people and commercial firms to their policemen on the feast of the Epiphany. It's an annual ritual in the nation's big cities.

Police vehicles toured the streets gathering up the gifts. At the close of the day the offerings were distributed among all members of the force.

Sermon on Mount Named in Survey As Best 'Speech'

NEW YORK—Of all the speeches ever made, which two would you like to have heard in person?

When a Northwestern University professor asked 318 persons this question, 88 per cent named either Christ's "Sermon on the Mount" or Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address". One man wanted to hear Joe Stalin's "Farewell Address".

Dr. Irving J. Lee, professor of public speaking at Northwestern, revealed the finding of a three-year "odd moments" survey in the Chicago area to discover how people feel about speakers and speeches.

Another question Professor Lee asked was, "Are there any speakers alive today you would be willing to go to some trouble to hear?"

Seventy-six per cent of those queried said they would go out of their way to hear one or more of the following: Winston Churchill, Albert Einstein, General Eisenhower, Eleanor Roosevelt and Walter Winchell.

Least Interesting Named

The survey subjects said the most interesting speakers they had heard were actors and actresses, clergymen and college professors, in that order. Described as "least interesting" were well-known writers, all scientists and most business men.

The Northwestern professor reported that the 318 people he interviewed consisted of three general types in about equal proportions: (1) laboring people, (2) business executives and club women, and (3) students and white collar workers. He talked to them on the street, on trains and street cars, in theater lobbies and in stores.

Fifty per cent said they go to hear speeches because they have to, 25 per cent because they feel they should and 25 per cent because they want to. Another breakdown of the answers showed that 30 per cent go to speeches because they are "dragged" by friends or relatives.

Forty per cent of those who went to a college or university expressed little interest in speeches, pointing out they had had their share of lecture-going. A sample comment was: "After all, how much can a man take?"

Dislike Formal Talks

In summarizing what the 318 subjects think about speakers and speeches, Professor Lee made three comments:

(1) People have had their fill of the dull, lifeless, learned, official-sounding formalism which marks so many public statements. Speakers ought to stand up and speak in their own words, no matter how halting or unpolished.

(2) Audiences want less special pleading and campaigning for vested interests, and more occasions in which they are effortlessly enlightened. They like to hear speakers who try to help them think through the problems of our time.

(3) They are unhappy about the amount of personalized invective in public debate today. They want less of the headline-reaching that goes with angry attacks on persons. They think that men of good-will, anxious about the walfare of this country, ought to be able to differ in better spirit, that men in high places ought to be able to disagree without so much spiting and distemper.

Dress Institute Names Ten Best Dressed Women in '50

NEW YORK — The New York Dress Institute recently announced its list of the world's 10 best dressed women as selected by a poll of fashion designers, editors and other prominent persons.

The Duchess of Windsor topped the list and three newcomers, Faye Emerson, Sloan Simpson O'Dwyer, former model and wife of the American ambassador to Mexico, and actress Gloria Swanson, were added to it.

Others making the list were Mrs. William Paley, wife of a CBS radio executive; Mrs. Byron Foy, wife of the Chrysler executive; Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Jr.; Mrs. Louis Arpels, of the French jewelry family; Mrs. Andre Embiricos, wife of a Greek shipping magnate, and Mrs. Leland Hayward, wife of the Broadway producer.

Dropped out of the first 10 were the Duchess of Kent, Mary Martin, Mrs. Kingman Douglass, and Mrs Harrison Williams.

Briton Brooding Over Injustice Gets Vengeance

SHEFFIELD, Eng.—Walter Marshall insisted last June that he was not guilty of smashing a grocer's plate glass window. He was fined anyway and he brooded about it.

Recently the 44-year-old machinist was back in the same court on the same charge. He told the judge:

"Ever since last June that window has been the same to me as a red flag to a bull. Last night I picked up a stone and flung it through the glass deliberately. Last time I did not do it. This time I did."

The judge fined him another 10 pounds.

Deportation order issued for Sollazzo, alleged "fixer."

Trap Line in Heart Of Baltimore Pays Off for 19-Year-Old

BALTIMORE, Md.—One of the most prosperous trappers in the United States is 19-year-old Paul Didier—and he never leaves the City of Baltimore.

In fact, his 300 traps are staked out in the back yards of north and northwest Baltimore. His trap line is a part of the Maryland game and inland fish commission's program to remove wild life from areas where it's a nuisance and put it in places where it will provide sport for Maryland hunters.

Paul catches from 600 to 700 squirrels, skunks, possums and chipmunks every month.

The youth had quite a bait problem when he first began trapping. He started out with hard shelled corn, but soon the pigeons began robbing his traps.

He shifted to green walnuts. But the squirrels quickly grew tired of them. Next came an experiment with roasted peanuts. The neighborhood children found out about that. End of experiment.

Now he uses raw peanuts. It's the ideal bait. The squirrels love them. And the children don't.

By the time the bait problem was straightened out, another headache set in. Folks along the trap line got to feeling sorry for the squirrels and began to release them.

Since the traps are set only in areas where they are requested because of small animal damage, such sabotage is difficult to understand.

One woman who requested trapping service, then freed the squirrels, gave this explanation:

"I just wanted to teach them a lesson."

Most of the animals caught are squirrels, but the bag this past season included 20 skunks, 50 possums and a number of pigeons, rats, bluejays and chipmunks.

So far, only one cat has been unwary enough to slip into a trap.

Paul has had no trouble with the skunks. "It's all in knowing how to handle them," he said.

Most Educated Policeman Retires After 28 Years

BOSTON, Mass.—The most educated policeman in the United States has retired—and he was still a patrolman.

Edwin D. Flanders, B.A., B.L.I., LL.D, retired after 28 years in the department's lowest grade—despite his three college degrees.

He explained that he liked being a patrolman and had never been interested in advancement.

He's a bachelor of arts from Portia law school, a bachelor of literary interpretation from Emerson College and a doctor of laws from Boston University.

Flanders says he "might write a book" now that he has retired.

Stratosphere Barrier Will Be Hot for Rocket Ships

HAVERFORD, Pa.—Explorers into space are going to find it difficult to penetrate a heat belt the American Astronomical society reported recently.

The astronomers reported the discovery high above the stratosphere of an unexpected air barrier. It is the heating effect of the upper air at 60 miles and higher. The heating is about twice as much as had been previously calculated.

The practical meaning is that rocket ship engineers will have to plan to limit the ship's speed in those altitudes so that the metal or whatever else the ship is made of will not melt from friction.

Even now the metal noses of high altitude rockets sometimes get red hot in this friction. It was explained that the heating would not prevent rocket travel, but the speed while leaving the earth must be adjusted to fit the excess heat.

The discovery was made with the aid of laboratory shooting stars. These stars imitate the melting and the evaporation of meteors that hit the upper air and burst into blinding flames.

Women Are Good Detectives, Criminologists Report

NEW YORK—Women are naturals in the field of private investigation, assistant dean of the New York Institute of Criminology reports.

For reasons best known to other women, feminine investigators do a more thorough job of snooping, assistant dean Emma Predicker says.

"With their suspicious minds and natural curiosity, they work out very well." Miss Predicker teaches both men and women the finer points of shadowing and writing up reports.

You can't go right from the 13 week's course to you own detective agency, since a man or woman needs three years of experience before getting licensed as a private investigator.

"But there are many requests now for people to serve in factories, screening war workers and just generally protecting the plant," the shadowing expert said.

Policemen have become accustomed to seeing the slim, well-dressed instructor start off an eager group of students on complicated shadowing assignments up and down Broadway.

Trade told to clean up comic books or face regulation.

Radiological Study In Connection With Defense Program

Radiological health hazards involved in civil defense will come under five days of intensive study at a short course to be conducted at the State Department of Health in Austin beginning June 11, State Health Officer George W. Cox has announced.

Designed primarily to indoctrinate supervisory personnel in the essentials of radiation defense so they can conduct training programs in their own communities, Dr. Cox said the course would be held each month during the summer for a differene class of participants.

The health officer said the study is open to:

Representatives of counties or cities where radiological defense is not vested in local health departments; supervisory or professional personnel of local health departments; representatives of state departments engaged in civil defense work; fire and police training officers or instructors; and members of medical or safety departments contemplating in-plant programs.

Dr. Cox, chief of Texas health and emergency medical services, summarized the course as covering:

Where radiological defense fits into overall civil defense activities; definition of radiation language and units; radiation physics; theory and application of instruments; atomic bomb phenomena; area and personnel monitoring (checking for radioactivity); uses of radiation and radioisitopes; radiation protection and decontamination; psychology of disaster; and organization of local communities for radiological defense.

Lectures will be supplemented by laboratory exercises and demonstrations, Dr. Cox said, and time will be spent on review of physics, chemistry, and the mathematics required for calculations.

"We're going to put on a really worthwhile course," he indicated. "The army is going to help us."

He said additional courses would be held as "necessity demanded."

No tuition will be charged. Applications should be submitted to Dr. Cox at the State Department of Health in Austin, and include education and background of applicants. Trainees are expected to arrange their own travel and living conditions while attending the course.

London Economist, British publication: "No war with Russia could be won without the Western powers controlling the Mediterranean."

'Tis said that the proposed H-Bomb is more potent than any yet conceived. Reason: It's an A-Bomb dipped in Hadacol.
